PACIFIC FLIERS NOT SIGHTED ON WAY TO SEATTLE

Moyle and Allen Monoplane
Without Radio on 4,465-mile Ocean Hop
PAIR DUE WEDNESDAY
No Anxiety Felt Thus Far for Safety of Two American Airmen

Tokio — (AP) — Word was awaited here late tonight of the hoped-for sighting of the monoplane of Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, Californians who took off from Samushiro beach, Japan, at 5:30 a. m. (3:30 p. m. E. S. T. Monday) on a non-stop flight across the Pacific to Seattle.

The monoplane carried no radio and it may not be seen until it reaches Seattle.

If the plane maintained the predicted speed of 100 miles an hour, it would reach an American landing, 4,465 miles from its starting place about noon (E. S. T.) Wednesday. The arrival might be hours earlier or later.

At midnight here, 18 1/2 hours after the start of the flight, the plane had not been sighted. It was reported that the plane had been sighted off the coast of Japan, 275 miles north of Tokyo. They were reported passing Point Ermo, 110 miles north-eastward from Hokkaido island.

If they held the starting speed they should have been over the Aleutian islands of Alaska at midnight (E. S. T.).

Efforts of the Japanese radio station at Oshichi and of other agencies to learn the fliers whereabouts were unavailing, although inquiries were sent to several Japanese and other vessels which might have been near the Moyle-Alen route.

The steaming liner Maru reported tonight its officers had kept a sharp lookout south of the western Aleutians, without sighting the plane.

It was felt, however, that absence of word was not occasion for undue alarm. The fliers were believed to have swung northward of the shipping lane across the Pacific in order to shorten the flying distance.

An hour and ten minutes after the takeoff they were sighted off Point Ermo, Hokkaido island, 110 miles from Samushiro beach, having set a 100-mile an hour pace for the first stages on their trip. Their route as mapped followed close to

NEW JERSEY POLICE CHIEF IS MURDERED

Shot from Ambush at His Home—War on Bootleggers Believed Cause

Bernardsville, N. J. — (AP) — An unknown assailant shot and killed Police Chief Charles Cavanaugh, 36, today as he stepped onto the porch of his home.

State and Bernardsville police expressed the belief the killing was in reprisal for recent raiding activities against bootleggers.

Cavanaugh had just returned from a fire in the home of Isadore Pastridge, a few yards from his own home when a shot sent a bullet past him to lodge in a trellis. He stepped back to evade a second shot. A third struck him in the chest, deflected and pierced his heart.

He staggered to the street and died in the arms of Clarence Pop, a fireman who rushed to the scene on hearing the shots. Pop said he asked Cavanaugh who shot him but was unable to obtain an answer.

Police believe the assailant ambushed himself in a dahlia bed near the chief's home.

Police are seeking Pastridge for questioning. He was not at home when his house caught fire. Cavanaugh recently raised a place owned by Pastridge and managed by one of Cavanaugh's brothers.

Harrisburg, Pa. — (AP) — Edgar F. Hazleton, Jr., New York boy, who was thought to have been kidnapped was picked up by Pennsylvania railroad police here yesterday.

He was in New Orleans or Mobile, the railroad police said, at the time and immediately started to return by hitch-hiking and by blind baggage.

Eau Claire — (AP) — Photographs of a new suspect in the slaying of Alvin S. Marshall, 55, New Lisbon, Wis., appraiser for the Wisconsin State Annuity board, were in the possession of local authorities today after an attempt to link an ex-convict with the crime had failed.

The photos will be shown to filling station attendants at Humboldt and Baldwin, Wis., who believe they can identify the man who accompanied Marshall on the ride which culminated in the appraiser's death from gunshot wounds and blows last week.

Announcement that a new suspect was sought came on the heels of a futile attempt to connect the former convict with the case. Photographs of the ex-convict were viewed by both J. W. Lawrence, chief station attendant at Humboldt, who saw Marshall's companion prior to the slaying, and George L. Moore, attendant at Baldwin, who later cashed a $20 travelers check for a man representing himself as Marshall. Both declared the pictures were not those of Marshall's companion.

OLD FRIENDS NOW FOES IN BRITAIN

MacDonald and Henderson
In Heated Debate as Parliament Convenes

London — (AP) — Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Arthur Henderson, political allies for 30 years, turned on one another in hot debate today as parliament began its special "economy" session.

In the topsy-turvy lineup of the new politics, Conservatives and Liberals cheered Mr. MacDonald and the Labor members on whose side he fought for many years.

With all the vehemence and eloquence he could command the premier insisted a course was the only one possible. Mr. Henderson, attacking the government's method of dealing with the financial situation, asserted formation of the so-called national government was not necessary because the United States and France, in their own interests, never would have dared to let Great Britain's credit fail.

Powers who is held here for the killing of two women and three children, said today he had written to Lawrence Richey, secretary to President Hoover, suggesting a federal investigation of the means by which a confession was obtained from Powers.

"I am in receipt of your letter of the 2nd inst. And as well the reports of the national commission of law observance and enforcement," Law said in his letter. "I am counsel for the defendant in this case and it furnishes the most horrible example of third degree tactics that has ever come to my notice."

"There ought to be a government investigation of this case," he continued. "I trust you may call attention to the proper persons and the commission who would have such matters in charge in order that they may be brought, properly, to their attention."

The attorney would not comment on his letter.

A report of Wolf's operations on the stock market using the securities as margin was to be given Reynolds at a meeting of the board and the course of legal action was then to be determined.

Abner J. Stillwell, a vice president of the bank who until today had charge of the investigation, said that the question of turning Wolf over to the state's attorney for grand jury action has not been determined yet.

CHILEAN QUIZ TO DETERMINE REBELS' FATE

Last of Coquimbo Fleet Yields After Bombardment from Planes

Santiago, Chile — (AP) — The fate of the rebel sailors and soldiers who controlled Chile's fighting fleet and naval bases for a week hung in the balance today as the government initiated an intensive investigation into their guilt.

More than 2,700 men and petty officers, assigned to the flagship La Torre, the cruiser O'Higgins, seven destroyers and five submarines, were involved in the mutiny at Coquimbo. Other hundreds of troops figured in the seizure of the bases at Talcahuano and Valparaiso. A considerable number of Communists were alleged to have provided the torch of inspiration.

The last of the Coquimbo fleet surrendered yesterday after being bottled into submission by an aerial bombardment. Their officers, prisoners during the revolt, were ordered to take their craft to Valparaiso and to Port Tongoy.

General Vergara, commander-in-chief of the army and navy, authorized a statement asking the public to remain calm and not to worry about the paucity of news concerning the events of the past week, saying that measures to restore peace necessitated silence for the present.

Only Details Remain
The air corps, supported by land forces, remain in control of the nation. He said, to make sure that the mutineers do not attempt to violate their surrender agreement. He said only minor details to return the country to normalcy remained and that the nation could have confidence in a successful termination.

The nation was generous in praise of the conduct of the aviation division and attacks of embassies and legations remarked that it was the first time in a Latin-American revolt that aircraft had conquered a navy to protect a government.

Although it had been planned to cut the air corps in the interests of economy it was held likely that the navy budget instead will be sliced and these funds accredited to the victorious branch of the services.

Answering only to the president, the senate proposed to the cabinet that one of the outstanding heroes of the rebellion, Lieutenant Fernando de la Paz, be raised to the rank of major. The lieutenant, whose full name means "Ferdinand of the Peace," defends single-handed the powder magazine at Talcahuano and killed seven insurgent soldiers with seven shots when they tried to rush him.

SEEKS EXTRADITION OF DEATH CAR DRIVER

Manitowish-water — (AP) — District Attorney L. F. Fischer of Manitowish-water today planned to go to Madison in an attempt to get sanction for the extradition of John J. A coroner's jury a few days ago held McKechnie, in whose car Miss Bolt was a passenger, negligent at the time of the accident. McKechnie, authorities said, refused to return to Wisconsin when arrested Saturday stating he believed the purpose of returning him to the state was to serve papers on him in a suit for damages.

Minneapolis — (AP) — Stock transactions in Arizona, held by the protective investors Public Utilities Consolidated corporation, a Foshay subsidiary, will be gone into this week by the government in continuing its case against Wilbur B. The trial was resumed in federal court today after a three-day recess on account of the Labor day holidays. The first days of the case last week were given over mostly to introduction of documentary evidence. The company officials are accused of misrepresenting the firm's financial standing to sell its securities.

Several residents of Arizona have been subpoenaed by the government to testify in connection with the Public Utilities Consolidated corporation of Arizona.

The entire Lake Michigan shore area is being scouted by state and federal crews. The first corn borer found in Wisconsin was discovered on a Sheboygan-co farm several weeks ago. ### Lights To Be Installed At Bad Crossing Automatic signal lights are to be installed at the intersection of Highways 10 and 26, Leppia's Corners, in the near future, according to information received this morning from Thomas J. Pattison, chairman of the Wisconsin Highway commission, by Oscar J. Schmieg, assistant district attorney for Outagamie-co and assemblyman from this district.

Last week Mr. Schmieg wrote the commission, asking that some steps be taken immediately to safeguard the lives of people who travel across this intersection on these two important routes. He pointed out that four lives were lost there on Sept. 1 as a direct result of inadequate safeguards. He also called attention to other fatal accidents and to many serious accidents in which there were no fatalities, which occurred at the crossing during previous years. He pointed out that several requests had been made by the county for more adequate protection. Mr. Pattison's answer to Mr. Schmieg follows:

"We have realized for some time that this is a very bad intersection and from information which I get from our division engineer, practically every precaution has been taken with reference to widening the pavement, approaches, painting danger signals on the slab, erecting stop signs, but it appears they do not prove adequate. I can assure you that as soon as possible a control signal will be installed at this place."

Mrs. Hirschak, wounded in the left shoulder and hand, was reported recovering at a hospital.

The shooting occurred when the elder Hirschaks, their son, and a daughter, Frances, 17, returned home from a church festival. The parents previously told Fulmece they objected to his proposal to marry Rose whom he followed here from Detroit.

PLAN TEST CASE IN ACCIDENT AT HIGHWAYS 10, 26

Manslaughter Charge Lodged Against Seaborn T. Whatley, Jr.

CRASH KILLED FOUR
District Attorney May Seek Appointment of Special Prosecutor

A warrant charging Seaborn T. Whatley, Jr., 223 Lake Shore-dr., Chicago, with manslaughter in connection with the automobile crash at Leppia's corners on Sept. 1, was issued by the municipal court this morning following a conference of District Attorney Stanley A. Stalld and Sheriff John J. Berg, Whatley, 18, was the driver of the automobile which ran through an arterial highway and crashed into another machine, causing the deaths of four persons and injuries to three others.

While Mr. Stalld had previously indicated he would not press a manslaughter charge in this case, because of previous experience with supposedly similar fact conditions, it was decided to proceed with the prosecution of Whatley as a test case. Mr. Stalld has indicated he would request the appointment of a special prosecutor to assist in the preparation and prosecution of this case.

The slain were: William Marsh, 18, 6522 Woodlawn-ave., Chicago; Mrs. Louis Zurn, 46, Marshfield; Alice Zurn, 9, her daughter; and Mrs. A. H. Matthes, 60, 1007 W. Commercial-st., Appleton. The injured were: Mr. Matthes, still confined in St. Elizabeth's hospital; Sheldon White, Highland Park, Ill., an occupant of the car which Whatley was driving; and Dr. Lester Zurn, 12, son of the dead woman.

Failed To Stop
Whatley, driving a car owned by Marsh's father, was accompanied by White and Marsh. All three were sitting in the front seat of the machine, as it approached the intersection at Leppia's Corners. The car was going north on Highway 26. At the same time the other car, driven by Mr. Matthes, was headed west on Highway 10. The Matthes were taking Mrs. Zurn and her children back to Marshfield after a visit in Appleton. Highway 10 is an arterial highway and those driving on Highway 26 must stop at the intersection.

The Chicago youth, in a statement to the district attorney's office, said he was driving north and did not see the arterial sign until he was abreast of it, but too late to stop. He said he slowed down as he approached the intersection, but had intended to drive through if there was no car in the way. Whatley said he did not see the Matthes machine until it was only 15 feet away and it was too late to stop.

Mrs. Zurn was killed almost instantly. Mrs. Matthes died at the hospital about two hours later, and Marsh and the Zurn girl died that night.

Italy Proposes Truce In Building Of Armaments Until Contab

MEXICAN ENTRY INTO LEAGUE WINS APPROVAL

Exclusion Dozen Years Ago Is Titled "Lamentable Error"

Geneva—(P)—Dino Grandi, Italy's foreign minister, proposed today at the league of nations assembly an immediate truce in the building of armaments to continue through the period of the disarmament conference to be held next February.

His proposal evoked no demonstration of enthusiasm among the delegates but after he had finished speaking there was lively discussion of his suggestion in the lobbies. The German delegates particularly appeared to be well pleased.

Signor Grandi, reminding the assembly that the league covenant is only 12 years old, urged the nations not to think of it too much until its real spirit is more firmly implanted. Instead of creating more complicated machinery, to supplement the covenant, he said, the nations should make some definite move to make the disarmament provisions of the covenant effective.

"My idea," Grandi said, "is that we should agree right now on a real armament truce at least for the period of the deliberations of next year's conference."

"Such an agreement, with a view to suspending new armament programs, not only would be an example of good will but would create for the conference of a better political and psychological atmosphere which would do more good than all the declarations of principle which might be made."

Competitive armament building, he said, is at the bottom of most of Europe's economic difficulties.

"It is hard to see the utility of adjusting war payments," he asserted, while the present armaments continue. Let us rather, he said, make weapons and we shall see that economic barriers will lower themselves."

Invitation to Mexico Mexico was unanimously invited by the assembly today to join the league of nations after a number of delegates had delivered addresses of endorsement.

The league thus moved to rectify what some of its members termed a "lamentable error" in excluding Mexico from possible membership when the organization was formed 12 years ago.

Lord Cecil of Great Britain, Foreign Minister Briand of France, and Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy were among those who advocated before the assembly the adherence of the Latin American country.

Lord Cecil said this would rectify an error in the formation of the league, saying "I must admit I personally had a part in committing this error." He said that Mexico's help was greatly needed in the league's efforts to solve world problems.

M. Briand, applauded as he ascended the platform, said "we all have deplored the regrettable mistake of omitting Mexico in the first place and we are all happy now to rectify that lamentable error. France will hail with joy the day Mexico joins our work."

Signor Grandi said Italy would be most happy to see Mexico take her place beside other leaguers. Foreign Minister Curtius voiced similar sentiments of behalf of Germany and delegate Yoshizawa added the voice of Japan.

While the statesmen were paying tribute to Mexico, her observer at Geneva, Martinez de Alba, walked about the auditorium smiling and shaking hands with the leading delegates.

G. O. P. IS BLAMED FOR DEPRESSION

Reed and Bulkley Launch Attacks at Ohio Democratic Rally

Columbus, Ohio—(P)—Responsibility for the economic depression was laid at the door of the Republican party by former U. S. Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, and U. S. Senator Robert J. Bulkley of Ohio, here last night.

Addressing a state-wide Democratic rally, they reiterated their opposition to prohibition, attacked the Republican tariff as a cause for slackened business and predicted that unemployment would be a chief issue in the next presidential campaign.

Senator Bulkley recommended that the Democrats include in the 1932 presidential platform planks for unemployment relief and for resubmission of the eighteenth amendment to the states.

Republican administrations of the past ten years, the Republican tariff and prohibition were blamed for the economic depression by former Senator Reed.

Charging that the Republican party had "paraded as the archangel of prosperity" for half a century, the former Missouri senator declared that "a party that pretends to be able to produce good times must be held responsible for the bad times occurring while it is in the flood-tide of power."

Drawing a word picture of depression and unemployment with its accompanying hardships, Reed said "all this wreckage has happened with the 'greatest engineer' the world ever produced sitting at the throttle."

Failure of the government to use its powers under the Sherman anti-trust laws, he resulted in widespread monopolies, he charged, specifying radio broadcasting and wireless telegraphy as examples.

Investigators Discover Shortage Of Wild Ducks

BY B. A. CLAFLIN

Now that President Hoover has fixed the duck law to the entire satisfaction of the wealthy preserve owners of Illinois and other states south of us; and Wisconsin has her conservation commissioners weeded out and readjusted, everything from now on will no doubt be OK.

We may sit back and watch the locally-raised waterfowl grow fat on our marshes and wild rice beds and then, just before the shooting season opens here, pull out for Illinois where the waiting nirrords are laughing in their sleeves at the turn affairs have taken.

No attention should be paid to such silly, wildcat theories as abolishing repeating guns. So long as a daily bag limit is fixed what matters it whether the birds are shot with a "pump" gun or with a bow and arrow? Idle talk by persons who wish to appear as outstaring thinkers, but who are far from practical.

How about a shortage of the wild duck crop this year? Some claim there is no shortage. But government alarmists state of affairs as existing in the country where our wild ducks are raised.

But, whatever the true state of affairs is, it is a waste of time to talk about exempting Wisconsin from Hoover's proclamation because the ducks that pass through this state may not come from the Saskatchewan country, but from the Hudsons Bay region where some claim that plenty of waters exist this year for breeding grounds.

What is the difference where the birds are hatched and raised? And how does anyone know just where our flights do come from? Birds banded at Barkhausen's preserve have been shot, I believe, three days later in the New England states.

Governed By Weather Personally, I believe the southern flight of our wild ducks is governed largely by weather conditions prevailing while the flight is in progress. I have enjoyed duck hunting for many years. And I have shot over most of the best places in the country. It would be like saying good bye to a dear friend to see it prohibited. I most certainly hope that won't be necessary. But, while I like to hunt as well as anyone, I still maintain that a proclamation such as President Hoover signed, not from a personal viewpoint, of course but upon urgent recommendations of the Department of Agriculture, will not help the duck crop one particle. It is a subterfuge, and it was put over fast.

The only proper way to increase wild life of any kind is to stop killing it until the supply again increases to a point where it may again be safely taken. "Pump" gun theories, two o'clock time limits and all that idle talk are silly matters. Such measures would never restore the wild ducks. Like the provisions of the Eighteenth Amendment they simply would make poachers of hunters otherwise honestly inclined.

FREE BUS SERVICE NOT LEGAL, COMMITTEE FINDS

There will be no free bus service on the evening of Sept. 16 when the annual fall opening of Appleton retail merchants gets underway, it was learned in a letter here this morning from Andrew R. McDonald, commissioner of the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin by Wayne Jones, chairman of the fall opening committee.

Mr. Jones last week sent a letter to Mr. McDonald, asking about the possibilities of conducting the free service for Appleton people who wished to take part in the opening festivities of the trade event. Mr. McDonald said he questioned the legality of such procedure, because rates and similar matters are governed by statutes.

The committee planned to seek the cooperation of the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. and Fox River Bus Co., in carrying out the free bus service.

2 Farm Fires Near Here Result In Losses Estimated At $16,000

LIGHTNING IS CAUSE OF BLAZE AT BLACK CREEK

Back Firing of Gasoline Engine Results in Second Conflagration

Two fires on farms in this vicinity over the weekend caused losses estimated by owners at $16,000. The highest loss occurred on the farm of Mrs. Carl Gerhard, about three miles northwest of Black Creek, when lightning late Monday afternoon, resulted in a blaze which razed a barn and several smaller buildings. A loss of $5,000 resulted on the farm of Albert Krueger, route 1, Little Chute, early Monday morning when a gasoline pump in a pump house backfired and set fire to the building. In both instances the losses are partly covered by insurance.

Only a few minutes after the lightning struck at 8:30, the Gerhard barn was enveloped in flames. A granary, 20 by 30 feet, a pig pen and a chicken coop were destroyed with the barn. Besides the buildings, 300 bushels of grain, 175 young chickens, five calves, 90 tons of hay, $100 worth of clover seed and several bushels of seed corn were lost.

The Black Creek fire department, which responded to the alarm, directed its efforts chiefly toward saving the home. Neighbors also volunteered their help.

The only person at home at the time was Harold Kettner, a hired man. He was in the barn milking cows when the lightning struck. He succeeded in driving all the cows out of the building.

Mrs. Gerhard, her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Marder, and three children were visiting at the Raymond Gerhard home at Mischicot.

Mrs. Gerhard also lost a barn by fire 13 years ago this month. She plans to rebuild at once.

Flames Spread Rapidly

At the Krueger home efforts were made to extinguish the fire in the pump house with a small container of chemical fluid. However, the flames started again when the chemical supply was exhausted and before neighbors could arrive and form a bucket brigade the flames had spread to the barn and the other outbuildings.

Neighbors, numbering about 80, organized a bucket brigade and protected the residence from the flames until the arrival of a truck from the Kaukauna fire department. The flames had spread so rapidly, however, that it was impossible to save the barn and other buildings. About 900 bushels of oats and barley, 85 bushels of which were just threshed, and 28 loads of hay were destroyed.

The fire department was called to the residence of A. Ulrich, 1003 W. Packard-st., about 5:20 Monday evening when the basement filled with smoke as a chimney became plugged. The smoke led occupants to believe a fire had started. No serious damage resulted.

6 INJURED IN AUTO CRASHES OVER WEEKEND

Heavy Traffic Conditions on Highways Fail to Take Usual Toll

Despite heavy traffic over the weekend, only six persons were injured in accidents. None were seriously hurt.

Crashing into the rear of a rack driven by Oscar Kluth of Two Rivers, which was owned by his brother, Will Kluth, residing on a farm near Clintonville, Alfred Gehrke, Clintonville, is in St. Elizabeth hospital with a broken nose, crushed cheek bone and bruises about the face. A silver barely missed puncturing one eye.

The accident occurred about 7 o'clock last night on Highway 26, about two miles south of Clintonville. The injured man was taken to Clintonville doctor and then brought to Appleton.

The team drawing the rack ran away, but no one else was injured. Gehrke was riding alone when the crash occurred. The rack was demolished and Gehrke's car was badly damaged.

Three Women Hurt

Three women were injured in an automobile accident on Highway 114 near Waverly Beach late Sunday evening, according to Menasha police. A car driven by John Bauer, 504 Water-st., headed toward Menasha, and a machine driven by Cyril Rohe collided.

Mrs. Henry Scherer and Miss Electa Cushman, Manitowish, Menasha, occupants of the Bauer car, sustained injured backs and were taken to Theda Clark hospital, Neenah, today.

Mrs. Otto Glowe, who lives near Waverly Beach and who was an occupant of the Rohe car, also was taken to Theda Clark hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises, but was able to leave Monday morning.

The Bauer car overturned and both machines were damaged. All other occupants are believed to have escaped injury, police stated.

Aged Man Struck

Herman Mittelstedt, 70, Weyauwega, received severe head bruises and minor leg bruises when he was struck at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon by a motorist driving a Chicago car. The accident occurred near Mr. Mittelstedt's home on highway 10 about a mile west of Weyauwega. Mittelstedt was going home after hauling corn when he walked in front of one car and, in dodging, stepped into the path of the Chicago car, witnesses said. He was taken to Weyauwega for medical aid and then to his home.

Carl Brockman, 30, 544 N. Center-st., is in St. Elizabeth hospital with an injured back and shoulder, received in an automobile accident near Cedar Falls Monday evening.

The car driven by Mr. Brockman, who has been working in Oconomowoc, was struck in the rear by a car trying to pass. Both cars were badly wrecked.

SHOWERS, COOLER WEATHER PREDICTED

Ideal summer weather over the weekend encouraged many Appleton residents to take tours to the favorite camping or vacationing spots, probably for the last time this season. Highways were jammed with cars throughout the state as motorists took advantage of the warm weather.

The mercury skyrocketed to 87 degrees during the torrid blast Tuesday morning. At 6 o'clock this morning the mercury registered 63 degrees above zero, one of the highest morning temperatures recorded in the past two weeks.

Showers will bring relief from the warm spell during the next 24 hours, the weatherman says. The mercury is due for a drop.

Similar predictions have been made throughout the midwest and lake regions for Tuesday night and Wednesday. Winds are shifting in the southwest and west.

PACIFIC FLIERS NOT SIGHTED ON WAY TO SEATTLE

Moyle and Allen Monoplane Without Radio on 4,465-mile Ocean Hop

The Kurile island chain, that foggy stretch which gave so much trouble recently to Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh on their flight to Japan.

Avoid Fog Blanket

However, aviation authorities said Moyle and Allen probably would keep well to seaward of the island chain to avoid fog and possible complications which might arise if they passed over any of the fortified areas there. They were believed to be heading in almost a bee line for Attu, the westernmost island of the Aleutian chain. After they had passed Point Erimo, Japan did not hear from them again.

Moyle calculated the flight would take 39 to 44 hours, depending on the weather. This would take them from Seattle between 3:30 and 8:30 a. m. Wednesday (12:30 and 5:30 a. m. Wednesday, eastern standard time).

He asked that airport officials in Seattle keep the flight lighted Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, against their coming.

Reports today from the United States quoted weather officials as predicting the aviators would encounter helpful winds over a good part of their journey, although admitting the weather over the Aleutians would be "by no means ideal."

The flight estimated the 1,020 gallons of gasoline in the tanks of their plane would keep them in the air 47 hours. In addition, they crowded 50 gallons of gasoline into the cockpit to give them fuel for two additional hours flying. Moyle expected to average 100 miles an hour in the early stages of the flight and a greater speed as the ship became lighter.

If they reach Seattle they will win $25,000 offered by the Asahi, Tokyo newspaper, for the first non-stop flight from Japan to North America south of a given degree of latitude. They will not be eligible for the Seattle prize of similar size because they did not take off within 50 miles of Tokyo.

They started from a remote beach whose hard-packed sandy surface presents the only available runway of sufficient length for such a heavily loaded plane. The runway at Kasumigaura airbase, near here, is too short.

No Trouble at Hop

The total weight of their plane at takeoff was a little less than six tons. As Moyle had predicted, they had no trouble taking off, clearing the beach after a run of 1,800 meters.

"The plane holds the world's weight carrying record for a single motor plane," Moyle said, explaining they had increased the "lift" by cutting down the propeller an inch at each end and installing a new tail group.

Nearly a year ago Harold Bromley and Harold Gatty—the latter the same man who recently established an around the world speed record with Wiley Post of Oklahoma—tried to fly this same plane from Samushiro beach to Tacoma, Wash. They returned to the beach many hours later with a broken fuel line.

This year, Thomas Ash, Jr., another American, using the same plane, tried to make the flight alone, but could not get into the air. Then came Moyle and Allen. They revamped the ship, changed the propeller and tuned up the motor, waved to a handful of friends and headed for Seattle.

Their getaway was the subject of favorable comment and congratulations by Colonel Lindbergh, as well as by Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, another pair of American aviators in Japan seeking permission to make a transoceanic attempt.

"The boys have all my best wishes," said Lindbergh. "It's a dangerous job they have undertaken."

FACES JAIL SENTENCE

Los Angeles—(AP)—A deferred 30 day jail sentence awaits the return here of Don Moyle, who with C. A. Allen, was enroute today from Tokyo on a flight to Seattle.

Moyle pleaded guilty in Superior court here July 15 to a charge of driving while intoxicated and was sentenced to a month in jail, with three years probation added.

William A. Kenney, attorney, asked for delay in the jail term, pointing out that Moyle and Allen had gone to considerable expense to arrange the ocean flight. Judge B. Roy Schauer accordingly agreed to make the term for the month of October.

Ruth Bryan Owen Reveals Struggles Of Orators

Washington—(AP)—Representative Ruth Bryan Owen's name makes its debut as author in the new book of this month on the subject for which the Bryan family is famed—oratory.

Dedicated to her father, the late William Jennings Bryan, here book, "Elements of Public Speaking" tells how those supposed to be "born orators" acquire their proficiency by diligent devotion to the art.

A foreword by William Lyon Phelps, Yale university orator, compared Owen to the person mentioned in St. Matthew who, given the talents, "increased the sum to ten and won the approbation of his lord."

Humorously, Mrs. Owen gives a "before and after" picture on the eloquent one, based, she frankly admits, on her own experiences.

She contrasts the apparent magic of the person able to sway an audience with his past of "interminable lecture tours, tired, ill-paid, discouraged, and above all, perplexed and harassed by the problem of satisfying the audience."

Of the "resonant" voice she says: "It gives no hint of the time when it evaporated completely on its first journey into the open air; returned startlingly in echoing halls, became entangled in the rafters and bunting of a festive auditorium."

The orator's "nose," she confides, has on occasions been shaken by little front-seat boys in chaquetaux, tents who sneak up and untie speakers' shoestrings and do stunts of balance and contortion; by vagrant cats able to completely absorb the attention of an audience; by cries of fire; by tents collapsing in rain storms; by sheriffs making arrests in the audience and hospital authorities capturing there an escaped inmate.

She narrates early struggles of many orators, including her own father, to prove her contention that oratory is not a "gift," and that in this age when "everyman and everywoman" is called up to make a few remarks, all can learn to do it well.

"Short-outs" she worked out on lecture platform and in chaquetaux lent, and later put into "laboratory practice" in teaching public speaking classes at Miami university, are embodied in the text.

They include such modern methods as making the subconscious mind do art of the work of thinking up speeches.

Her chapter on "Voice" contains this intimate incident: "Mr. Bryan, who was called by some the 'silver-tongued orator' had, particularly in his younger days, a singular beauty and clarity of tone in his speaking voice, and at the time of his death his wife, who had been in a most striking sense his helpmate, said: 'It seems a little thing to think of at such a time as this, but it is such a loss that the music of his voice is stilled.'"

Lumberman's Son Killed

Heath, a recent graduate of a Wisconsin Rapids aviation school and son of Earl Heath, Marinette lumber manufacturer, was killed early today while returning home from a holiday outing. John H. Lol-lar, driver of the car in which he was riding, was blinded by lights from another machine, and the automobile skidded into a ditch.

Heath was thrown through the top of the car and his skull fractured.

Fogarty was killed near Tomahawk Sunday when the automobile in which he was riding overturned near Berlin. The car, driven by Connel Higgins, Tomahawk, was on the wrong side of the highway, witnesses said. Fehringher was held pending an investigation.

Hanson, believed to have fallen asleep at the wheel of his car, was instantly killed near Baldwin. His machine veered from the highway and struck a telephone pole.

The Quattrolocchi boy was fatally injured when he ran from between two parked cars into a street at Waukesha. He was hit by a car driven by Andrew Prebelski, Waukesha.

Lund, a Milwaukeean who recently has been working in Superior, was fatally injured near Hayward when his automobile collided with a machine driven by Gordon Aford, Hayward. His body will be taken to Milwaukee tonight for burial.

The body of Larson, night watchman employed at the Northern Colony and Training School near Chip-cow Falls, was found a few feet from a highway and the outskirts of the city. Authorities are seeking a hit and run driver. They said they believed Larson was struck and killed and his body dragged from the highway by the driver of the car. Two women said they saw a car stop at the scene of the accident last night and noticed two men carrying a third person away from the automobile.

Aged Doctor Kills Self With Poison

Dr. Charles F. Lahn, 66, 813 N. Superior-st., took his own life by drinking carbolic acid about 7:30 Sunday evening at his home. After an investigation it was announced by Stanley A. Stalid, district attorney, that there would be no inquest, as the evidence proved Dr. Lahn killed himself.

The district attorney said Dr. Lahn had been drinking heavily and that he was under the influence of liquor when he took the poison. He said the investigation showed that Dr. Lahn had been drinking heavily for some weeks and that his wife had left him until he promised to stop drinking. Mrs. Lahn returned home Saturday, Oct. Sunday the doctor went out for a short time, returning with a bottle of liquor, according to the district attorney. He went to his room, but came downstairs a short time later, partially drunk. When his wife told him she intended to leave again he threatened to kill himself. Mrs. Lahn paid no attention, however, as he had made similar threats on previous occasions, according to the district attorney.

About 7:30 he entered the room, informed his wife he had taken poison. He displayed a small bottle with a label bearing the words "Carbolic Acid." Mrs. Lahn did not believe him. A few minutes later she went into the kitchen, she noticed that something was wrong. She ran next door and neighbors called the

Schools Reopen Today To Admit 5,000 Boys, Girls

Approximately 5,000 Appleton boys and girls went back to school this morning after three months of freedom from the cares of study.

The school enrollment is not yet known, but it is expected to show an increase over last year. Appleton high school will probably have the largest attendance in the history of the school. Advanced registration taken at the last May indicates a probable enrollment of 1,115 students.

A sixth grade has been established at Wilson junior high school because of the crowded conditions at Washington grade school, the Orthopedic school has a new room, and it is probable that an extra first grade will be established in either Columbus or Washington schools, depending upon which school has the most children. Last year the extra first grade was in Columbus school. There is a possibility that it will be in Washington school this year.

Every school in the city was ready for the siege of students, windows were gleaming with recent scrubbing, floors from the basement to the top floor were all shiny and as bright as a new penny until the clattering of feet today toned down the shine of the untouched floors.

Seventeen public and parochial schools opened this morning and two schools, Sacred Heart and St. Joseph parochial schools opened last week.

KING OFFERS TO CUT INCOME TO AID BRITAIN

Parliament Also Pleased by Willingness of Royalty to Help Nation

London —(P)— King George's offer to dip into his income for a quarter of a million dollars in order to help tide John Bull over his financial embarrassment today made a favorable impression on members of parliament gathered for the first special session since the war.

The willingness of the Prince of Wales to contribute $50,000 income to lighten the load of the new national government and that of other members of the royal family to help in accordance with their means was no less well received.

The king, acting through the keeper of the privy purse, wrote Prime Minister MacDonald that in view of the grave financial situation confronting the nation he "desired personally to participate in the movement for reduction of national expenditures."

In spite of the fact that drastic economies were made after the war, he wrote, he was of the opinion that "by the exercise of the most rigid economy it should be possible to reduce the civil list by $50,000."

"I am to say that the queen and other members of the royal family who are in receipt of parliamentary grants are all desirous that reductions of these grants should be made during this time of national crisis."

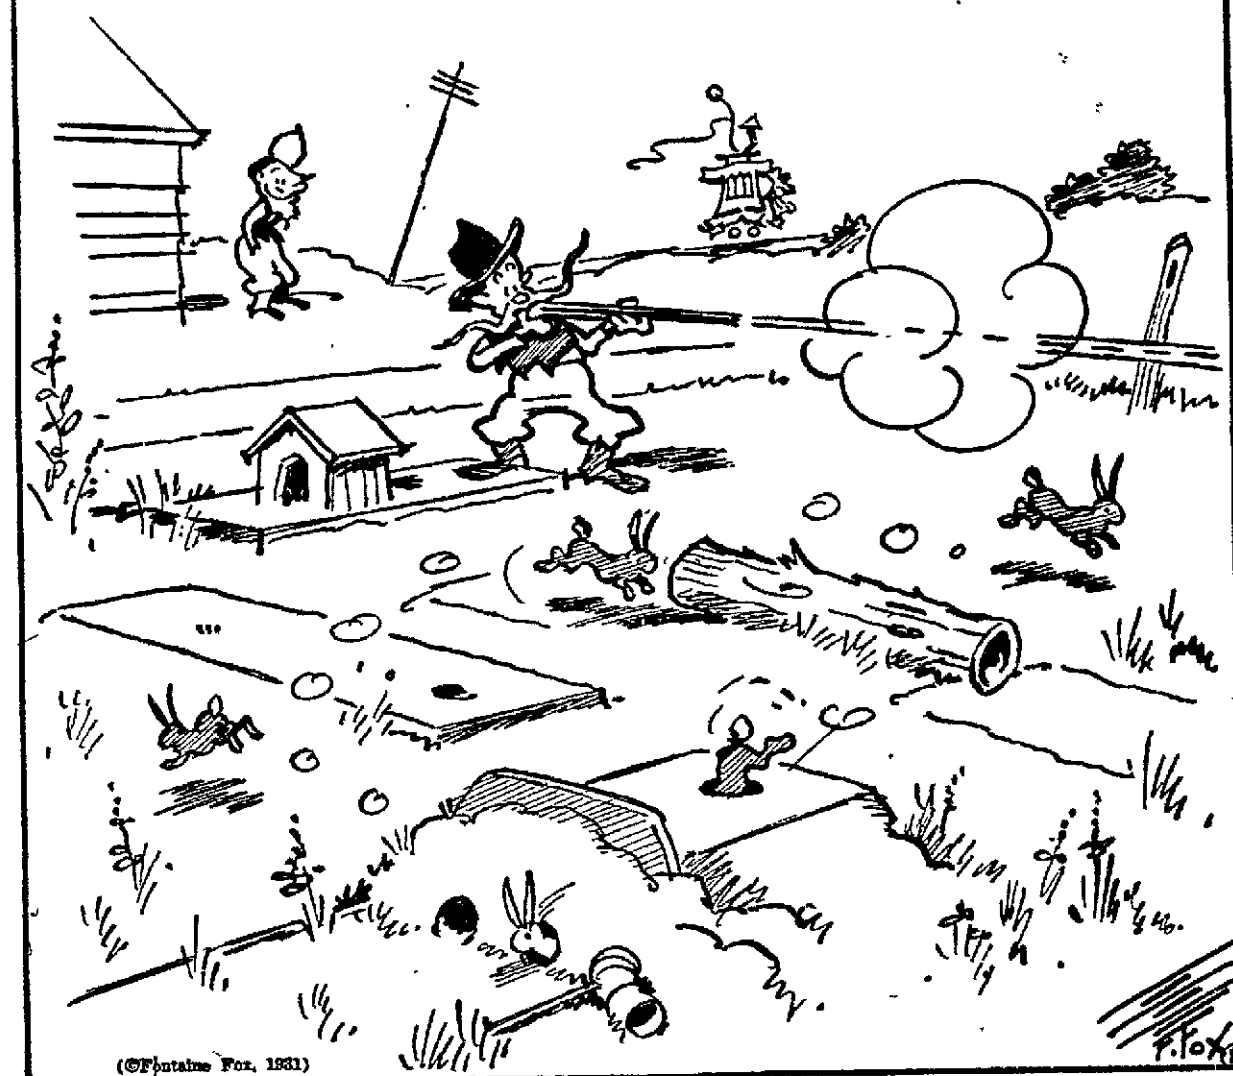

Source of Income

The maintenance of the crown is provided by a civil list totalling about $2,350,000 annually, theoretically granted by parliament each year. In addition the king derives a fluctuating revenue from the duchy of Lancaster, which, for example, netted $45,000 in 1929. From these two sources he must defray the expenses of state ceremonials, the palaces, pensions, servants, charities and the queen's court.

The Prince of Wales is not included in the civil list and his only income accrues from the duchy of Cornwall, which in 1929 brought him $380,000. Other members of the royal family who draw parliamentary grants aggregating about $550,000 annually are the king's four younger children, his two aunts, the Princess Louise and the Duke of Connaught. Wholesale merchants and housewives have bought great quantities of commodities in anticipation that the new economy proposals will include extra taxes on foodstuffs, tobacco and spirits. Tea, beer, wine, cigarettes and petrol are being purchased at present levels in expectation of a jump in prices.

Tobaccoists foresee that the levy on cigarettes will mount from a half-penny a package to a penny that on pipe tobacco and cigars will rise proportionately. Tobacco now yields about $305,000,000 in revenue annually. Import duties are expected to be raised on films, clocks, watches, automobiles, musical instruments and silk.

EXPECT INCREASE IN STATE MORTALITY RATE

Madison—(P)— Continued decline in the birth rate in Wisconsin is expected to result in a general rise in the state death rate, L. W. Hutchcroft, of the bureau of vital statistics, state board of health, said today.

Latest census figure revealed that a lower percentage of the population was recorded in all age groups up to 35 years except the 15 to 19 year group, than in 1920, the previous census. The age group under five years suffered a decrease of 13,682 during the decade.

The decline in the rate of population increase was not offset by the decrease in the death rate during the decade, Mr. Hutchcroft said. Based on the present trend of Wisconsin's mortality, an increase in the death rate for the older age groups is expected, inasmuch as heart disease, cancer, nephritis and other "constitutional" diseases particularly affect persons more than 40 years of age.

WANT STATE TO PAY FOR CHILDREN'S AID

A suggestion from the mayor of Superior that the Appleton common council adopt a resolution asking for an amendment to the law regarding state responsibility for dependent

TO ARM OR DISARM

The disarmament convention upon which the eyes of the world will focus in critical style some months hence, is causing a restiveness among those who do not want to disarm but are fearful of facing world condemnation if they refuse.

The recent statement from a French minister urging that all naval and military forces of the world be placed under the authority of the League of Nations to be used against a war aggressor is a plain indication of the French attitude.

At least the French government is convinced that France's only safety lies in military preparation and it has taken the constant attitude that unless given guarantees from the great and powerful nations of the world to come to its aid in case of attack it must and will prepare its own machine of war.

The proposal to put the fighting forces of the world under the League of Nations is not only wholly impractical but, France must know, will receive immediate and curt dismissal from the powers.

Under ordinary circumstances, and old affections of comradeship aside, France has no right to a greater army than Italy, Germany or any other nation. To concede her such a right is a consent to an intolerable condition. Equality among the powers is all that anyone of them can ask. More, than that is an advantage which quickly grows into a threat and amounts to a force in world politics that augurs good for no one.

Unless the disarmament convention succeeds in substantially diminishing the world the opposite condition must be faced. We must then expect the nations to train their manhood for some coming and expected conflict, however much each may truthfully hate the very thought of it. Armies will again shake the ground as they did before 1914. Hundreds of millions will be spent in this costly and ruinous manner.

That must not be the way of the future.

This is a propitious time, because of the penalty that faces the nations of the world, to cut armaments and armies to the bone. That it may be done because of the need of the times and the necessity of retrenching in budgets may be its excuse, but if it can be accomplished for a period of years each nation affected will discover that it is better off and certainly as safe.

Unless France agrees to a policy of disarmament Italy cannot be expected to. And in time Germany will again arm.

Since this seems to have been the policy of the world for countless generations to its great disadvantage the ordinary person so placed would look upon an innovation of policy as, at least, unlikely to make conditions worse and carrying potential seeds of betterment.

DEMPSEY'S COMEBACK

Psychologically Jack Dempsey's threatened return to the ring can have no deleterious effect. On the contrary, it should reawaken in heavyweight pugilism an interest which has become lethargic since Tunney and the Manassa Mauler retired.

The history of attempted comebacks by prize fighters is not a record of successful accomplishments. Almost without exception the effort is marked by failure, both physical and financial.

Whether Dempsey can succeed fiscally is a matter of conjecture. It won't matter much if he does not come up to his old standard but pending the final outcome of any match scheduled and during the ballyhoo preceding it, he is apt to catch the belated fancy of a public which has forgotten the unpopularity of his younger days and recalls only the weaving, tearing snarling fighter who fought because he liked it and gave all he had.

Dempsey will doubtless succeed financially. He, who was the magnet for the first million dollar gate and the greater ones which followed, should still be a drawing card to gladden the heart of any promoter. This is indicated when more than 17,000 persons recently paid over $27,000 to see him push over a few unknown derelicts.

Even though everybody will know that Dempsey's object is to replenish a depleted bank account, the public will welcome him back to the ring and will pay good money—and lots of it—to see him in action.

The situation is opportune for Dempsey. The pachyderms now occupying the limelight are mostly fourth-raters with the possible exception of Max Schmelling who appears to be making progress. None of them can be compared to Dempsey in his prime.

His memory lives on unchallenged by anything in the flesh and there is no one in the game now who is colorful enough to divert the public's mind from his ghost.

MAIL ORDER LOVE

A little common sense would prevent so many tragedies. The five murders which Harry F. Powers, of Clarksburg, West Virginia, committed wouldn't have taken place if two women had refused to let his flattering phrases play upon their vanity. They might have known that advertisements inserted in matrimonial papers aren't based on a certain man's reaction to a certain woman. They are founded on a wholesale interest in any daughter of Eve who is curious enough to send her name and address and volunteer for a correspondence course in courtship.

But somehow or other there is a woman now and then who has an idea that she is really the woman of his imagination for which the man who advertises is searching. Maybe he doesn't know it, she argues. And he certainly won't unless she tells him about it. When an answer comes she can't base the sudden flare of his interest on the light in her eyes or the smoothness of the complexion that he has never seen.

When she finally meets the man and the romance takes a personal turn, the fact that its foundation has been built on shifting sands doesn't give it much room on which to stand.

Powers, who preyed upon a foolish sentimentalism which some women have, in order to obtain their property and bank accounts, is a dastardly coward, of course. But it is hard to realize just what charming words the erstwhile Don Juan must have written in order to make women believe that he was a pearl of great price.

There have been pitiful stories told of women who have been afraid that their communities would think that they were unsought because they hadn't married, and who plucked a Beau Brummel from any tree.

But the two women whom Powers confessed that he murdered weren't the only two who were gullible. Scores of letters from others are pouring into the Clarksburg postoffice in which others admit that they, too, received long distance thrills from the matrimonial advertisements of the slayer.

Now and then someone criticizes the younger generation. Heads are shaken because the girls of today are supposed to have considerable more knowledge of life than their grandmothers had at the same age. But it is fairly safe to wager that a far smaller percentage of the worldly-wise 'teen-age group will ever chase a thrill through an advertising agency

Opinions Of Others

BEWILDERING

The Fourth of July speech of the vice president of the United States called for "reverences for the constitution, respect for the law and the courts." "It is not pleasing," declared Mr. Curtis, "to note the wave that is sweeping over the country which disregards law and order and substitutes instead man's individual desires, thereby weakening the opinion in which the constitution is held."

The Fourth of July speech of the secretary of war of the United States denounced "the breakdown of local self-government" and the "entirety of the national government into the administration of state and municipal affairs." "Where Jefferson did his utmost to free us from the tyranny of the crown," declared Secretary Hurley, "they are striving their utmost to subject us to the autonomy of a constantly growing bureaucracy."

The eighteenth amendment did to local self-government exactly what Secretary Hurley decries, and caused to sweep over the country the wave which Vice President Curtis laments as "weakening the opinion in which the constitution is held."

Yet neither of these gentlemen, representatives of the present national administration, think the slightest fault with the eighteenth amendment and the noble experiment.

CHOICE

Life never shouts: "Do this! do that!" I think it doesn't care. What road we take, what choice we make, What sort of garb we wear, Who will not wisdom word to learn Gets only what the fools can earn.

The things we lose, the things we gain On choice alone depend. Who wills to stray the easy way Finds hardship at the end. Who fears to risk a steep ascent Must with the valley be content.

Though fortunes change with circumstance And bodily distress, The normal man must shape and plan And build his own success. And he must say how far he'll go To claim the joys he wants to know.

We hold our destiny in hand At least to this extent. That all may say what price we'll pay For goals within our bent. And man from life takes nothing more Than he has had the courage for.

Life makes no gifts to great or low. Its joys are on display. How much we'll learn, how much we'll earn Is left to us to say. And where at last our progress ends Upon our strength or will depends.

Personal Health Talks

SOME OF THE OLD ESTABLISHED METHODS ARE NOT SO GOOD

To my innocent mind it is a puzzle why automobile manufacturers strive to make their cars as characteristic in the public eye as a trademark, and then after the public has become familiar with the distinguishing feature of the particular car, the manufacturers suddenly change the appearance of the car so that one can scarcely recognize the make. The only answer I can find for this conundrum is that perhaps these manufacturers are shrewd enough to know that old things are not so good when they begin to be obsolete.

I am truly sorry that I feel in duty bound to bring to the attention of the public in this way the ambulant treatment of hernia. I mean I am sorry about the annoyance this will cause many good doctors. You see, an honest doctor who gives his heart, his soul, his life to his practice... and there are plenty of such doctors serving the public to day, cannot keep posted on the more recent developments in his profession and also take good care of his practice. Even if he can find time to read current medical literature and attend regular meetings of the medical societies, he can't get the latest developments, because they are excluded from the current medical magazines and carefully barred from the programs of the medical societies, until the medical editors and censors... just such men as those that criticized me so severely for my promotion of a diathermy extirpation of the tonsils as an alternative for surgical tonsillectomy... frown down these "radical" innovations until the new ideas compel respectful consideration from sheer merit. Now a man in my line-care has nothing much to do but squat around and investigate these new methods, and if he has no great respect for "medical authority" sometimes he can learn something months or years before the honest practitioners begin to get wind of it.

On this account I feel it my duty to bring the ambulant treatment of hernia to the attention of the public at the medical stage. I can't teach doctors the technique, but I can suggest a few spots on the map where they may get instruction from a colleague, if they want it. I feel that my advocacy of the method will help to give it deserved popularity, just as my promotion of the chemical obliteration of varicose veins enabled thousands of sufferers to get relief which they could not have had otherwise. I'm not boasting this is my business. I ought to be fired from this job if I were content to wait till the last man in the last rank adopted and approved the new method. I am no dilettant in medicine; I had 18 years of active hospital and private practice before I ventured to oppose my judgment of these matters to that of other doctors or the holy-torty members of the profession. I have my little foibles and fancies about minor things, but on a great fundamental question I don't shoot till I have satisfied myself that I am justified... and the medical brethren who don't like my ways have not yet caught me on poor ground.

The ambulant treatment of hernia will come along through the channel of current medical literature and medical society programs in a few years. Meanwhile, by getting people talking about it, we can hasten the adoption of the method by the thinking independent doctors who wish to give patients the best possible service.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Be Yourself
This is a bold expression of appreciation for your remedy for callus on the sole. I have used it with great satisfaction and several friends have too. I should be grateful for the directions for belly breathing, also on the use of flaxseed for constipation. (Mrs. C. H. P.)

Answer—Send a stamped envelope bearing your address and say you wish to practice belly breathing. If you have the constipation habit, say so, and I'll send you instructions for overcoming your habit. I do not send impersonal treatises about diseases or ailments.

Acetanilid Habit
What injury would be caused by taking 15 5-grain acetanilid powders or—headache powders daily for five years? (Miss W.)

Answer—Acetanilid is a sensory nerve sedative and a circulatory depressant. It diminishes the oxygen-carrying capacity of the blood and reduces the hemoglobin. Such a habit in some cases brings impairment of health, sometimes mental deterioration.

Gained On Insulin
I wish to report the wonderful success I had with the Insulin treatment you recommended. I weighed 101 when I started and went up to 120 in about four weeks, although I ate little if any more than before. I'm very grateful to you for this suggestion. (Miss M. McN)

Answer—A lot of girls who were quite sad and skinny are wearing curves and smiles now, thanks to Insulin treatment and the progressive spirit of the better doctors.

Who-ey Says So
I should like to know what a great doctor thinks of breakfast foods such as ——— and ——— and ——— (J. B.)

Answer—Well, why don't you ask one some time? Personally, I consider so-called breakfast foods as equivalent to toast, rolls or pancakes or what have you. If you prefer the package product it is just as wholesome and healthful, weight for weight.

Trench Mouth
I have been doctoring for trench mouth for the past 14 weeks but seem to get little relief. (Miss R. E.)

Answer—Send stamped envelope bearing your address and repeat your complaint. (Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Where names are new printed. Only in queries of general interest will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. The Tinymites

By Hal Cochran

UP to a farmer Scouty walked and for a short time they both talked. Then Scouty shouted to the bunch, "Come on, we'll lend a hand. The farmer's glad to have you. You know, I needn't be afraid to try your luck. At least we'll find out how much we can stand."

"Why, sure," cried Clowny. "I will try to pitch that grain up toward the sky. Give me a pitch fork. I am strong. I'll do the best of all." And then he grabbed a fork real quick and started pitching grain up slick. The chaff would blow off on the breeze and let the fine grain fall.

The others also took their turn. It wasn't very hard to learn and Mister Farmer cried, "That's fine. You're giving me a rest." Soon all the bunch began to puff which showed that they had had enough. "Well, thank you," said the farmer. "All you boys have done your best."

They walked back into town and then the Travel Man said, "Once again I've planned a lovely head. Buenos Aires is our port. We'll leave upon a ship tonight and sail beneath the bright moonlight, right through the Straits of Magellan. It will be a heap of sport."

"Oh, gee, that's great," the whole bunch cried. "We'll sure enjoy that sort of ride." The Travel Man then took them to a train for a short trip. The train chug-chugged out to a port where was to start a heap of sport. They very shortly found themselves upon a monstrous ship.

That night, out on Straits they found moonlight reflection all around. And then it wasn't long until some mountains came in view. They hung out on the rail and saw such scenes as filled them all with awe. Said Scouty, "Gee, where are we go there's always something new" (Copyright, 1931, NEA Service, Inc.)

Seen And Heard
In New York

BY WILLIAM GAINES

New York — Trade being what it is, Arthur S. Bandler, "King of Black Diamonds," has more time to reminiscence upon his days in Bahia.

The Brazilian state, which encompasses the richest part of the world's only black diamond district, is infested with lizards, giant snakes and insects.

Bandler tells about small lizards down there that catch lightning bugs. At night the illumination of the bugs inside the thin membrane of the reptiles is a weird, and, for consumers of cachaca, sometimes terrifying spectacle, he declares.

Scorpions in Bahia are so tough they will attack a match flame, thrusting their stingers into it until they commit suicide.

One night in traveling through this wild land Bandler slept at a fazenda. The next morning he was bemoaning the fact that his bed was hard.

"That surprises me," his tropeiro (muleteer) commented, "for this place stuffs its mattresses and pillows with the best grade of cachaca found in this district."

Cascaho is diamond-bearing gravel.

On Bahian Spot

I found Bandler still grieving over the tragic end of his friend, "Colonel" Horatio Mattos, one of the "powerful" native leaders he knew in Brazil.

Mattos was killed a couple of months ago in the city of Bahia. His assassin shot him thrice in the back.

"Mattos could hang a thread from the limb of a tree, stand 20 feet away and clip it the first shot," says Bandler. "So you can see why it was advisable for his enemy to approach him from behind."

Bandler it was who obtained for his Bahia corporation the only governmental concession ever granted for the mining of black diamonds in the state of Bahia.

If you saw a black diamond in your path, probably you wouldn't stoop to pick it up. It looks like an ordinary black pebble, but is the toughest substance on earth. It was of little use until the Leachot drill was invented. Now it is of inestimable value to geologists in boring out earth cores to test structural formations.

Oddities And Endings
Jack Durant, born on the lower East side, passed himself off on circus audiences as a woman acrobat for three years of his tender youth. His wig and grace fooled them until muscular bulges ruined his "figure."

Really, it seems there ought to be an ending to all things, but apparently there is no end to the places bass viol players come from. Larry Stry, whose orchestra is in high favor with an exclusive beach club set, reports that his bass viol player, Jules Tott, comes from Holland.

Once again Deems Taylor is in Dutch. He started it all by saying every bull fiddle player hailed from Czechoslovakia.

Prohibition Director McCampbell of New York says that "ladies should have no part in the detection of violators of the Volstead act."

That doesn't apply, however, when friend husband comes in in his stocking feet after a lot of overwork at the office.

George Bernard Shaw would like to live in Russia. Maybe that's why he lives in England.

Yes....the Fall Shirts are ready...but have you seen about your Fall
Hat?

The hat comes first in all Fall buying.

Of course, there's no harm in buying the complete outfit at one time... but if you are going to split up your purchases... your Fall hat should be the opening gun.

With all the new hats bobbing up and down Appleton streets... your old hat will naturally feel embarrassed... and when that happens... run into Schmidt's and experience the thrill of paying $5 for a hat you'd swear was worth $8.

RELIEF NEEDS NO INDICATION OF CONDITIONS

Business Outlook Actually
Much Better Than Since
Depression Started

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1931 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—(CPA)—Judging by reports from different parts of the country, the measures being taken by the administration for next winter's relief have led to an impression that worse business conditions are expected. The truth is that there is an undercurrent of real optimism here which is understated in public comment because in the past few years effort to predict what was coming has been taken literally or misconstrued.

Officials are really uncertain how far they ought to go nowadays in emphasizing their conviction of what the underlying tone of business is, and, while relief is necessary as a measure of preparedness, no real fear exists that widespread distress will prevail.

On the contrary, the evidence thus far is that practically no extraordinary relief work has been done during the summer months and no reports of suffering have been made by local agencies.

The latest data with reference to the contributions made by the American people for charity would indicate that the normal sums for the aid of unemployed or the absolute penniless amount to about seventy million dollars a year.

Estimates Held Ample

About one hundred and twenty-five million dollars was spent last year for relief work, apart from the normal expenditures. The estimate for next winter would seem to indicate that possibly twenty-five million to fifty million more might be needed, which is probably a small sum when considered on a national basis. In other words, while nobody knows exactly how much money will be required, the estimates that are made are considered ample for any emergencies that might arise.

As a matter of fact, there is a good deal of talk about 7,000,000 persons unemployed as being the real number that has to be taken care of next winter. Of this total it is calculated that about a million persons are in the "I-won't-work" class, which is always present in times of prosperity or depression. Another million and a half are supposed to be transients, who work either seasonally or who are idle in between migrations from one section of the country to another for family reasons. These are some officials who feel that about three and a half to four million is nearer the actual number of persons willing to work who are unemployed.

During the summer months hundreds of thousands have been put on public road and public work construction and a census of unemployment might be expected to show a considerable decrease if it could be accurately taken this month.

Conditions Improve

All this is not by any means a normal situation or anything approaching normal but it is pointed out that conditions are far better than are generally believed. In other words, business confidence, which is so often related to popular beliefs about the intensity of business declines, may rise from now on if there is proof of persistent and successful effort being made to bring about readjustment in industry after industry.

The feeling here is that much progress has been made during the last twelve months to improve a number of businesses and that taken as a whole there is a decided turn for the better in many lines. News of a depression usually is given weight out of its proportions. Thus, the shoe and textile industries in New England have had very good business in recent weeks, while the country as a whole has not heard much about those two industries except an occasional report reaching a limited number of people who are especially interested in those fields.

Comparisons Better

During the next few weeks better reports are expected to flow from other sections of the country. This probably will be attributed to seasonal improvement, and it will be interesting to see how much better September and October will prove than the corresponding months last year. From now on the comparisons with a year ago will really prove heartening because it was in the autumn of last year that the business curve turned down so sharply when so many people had expected to see the end of the depression.

If the last quarter of 1931 is not better than the last quarter of 1930 in the majority of businesses it is expected that the record at least will be equal, and the remainder of this year may even compare favorably with any preceding period of 1931. The trend of feeling here is going to be more and more one of confidence and, while the winter may require extraordinary measures to take care of the unemployed, the business situation will be far better than the report on unemployment may indicate. Again it will be a question of emphasis and the country may be thinking more about unemployment than the gradual upward curve of general business.

TO BOOST PRODUCTION
Janesville—(AP)—Officials of the Rock County Sugar company said today they expected an increase of more than 25 per cent in volume of this season's production and that their plant would begin operation in October. Last year's run for the plant was 32,000 tons.

Your Birthday

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU

"VIRGO"

If September 8th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a. m. to noon, from 4:05 p. m. to 6 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 10:40 p. m. The danger hours are from 8 a. m. to 9:45 a. m., and from 6:30 p. m. to 8:40 p. m.

According to the planetary aspects of September 8th, there is some danger of accidents, especially by mechanical means. Caution, too, is required in business affairs, and speculation and change should be eschewed. Socially and spiritually, the day promises exceptionally well.

Children born on this September 8th will be clever, genial, and intelligent. They will be, as they develop, very attractive to the opposite sex, and this may, and probably will, retard natural progress. They will, before "settling down," experience many "ups and downs."

You, if born on September 8th, are self-reliant, and have a strong character. Your will is forceful, but not obstinate. You are not a "know-it-all," and are quite willing to listen to the advice of those who, in your opinion, are in a position to give it. You have no use, however, for the vapourings of those who talk "through their hat." As a rule, you are successful in what you undertake, as industry and perseverance are two of your principal assets. When things do not go well, you rarely try to force the issue, but are quick to "out your losses."

Your vision is clear and your perceptions keen. At all times, and under all circumstances, you are eminently practical, and never allow "what-might-be" deflect you from a sure and safe course. Your temperament is happily balanced between intellect on the one hand and emotion on the other. Your life runs in cycles. You will have long stretches of uninterrupted luck, and then others not so good. By biding your time, and playing your hand for all it is worth when luck is with you, and remaining quiescent when you are "out of luck," much material success will crown your efforts.

Your disposition is very affectionate. You have a good sense of humor, and are full of optimism and good spirits. Your married life promises to be happy and unclouded.

of September 9th. The business changes will bring in their train success and advancement. The domestic changes are liable to cause disappointment and grief.

A child born on this September 9th will be vivacious, bubbling over with enthusiasm, and there is nothing that it will not try. Failure will never discourage it. It will have self-esteem, assurance and perseverance. It will be witty, humorous and extremely affectionate.

You, if born on September 9th, are both pessimistic and cynical. There are times—alas!—altogether too many—when you can see no beauty or cheer in anything, and association with you on such occasions is most depressing. You are never disposed to say or to think that "it might have been worse."

Your one thought is that "it couldn't be worse." This mental attitude reflects on your physical condition, and many of the illnesses from which you suffer would be cured, or, at least, alleviated, if you took a more hopeful view of things in general.

You are too analytical for your own good. Too great analysis and over much meticulousness destroys naturalness and spontaneity, and thereby life is robbed of half its charms. You are, also, too critical. If your criticism were constructive, and not simply destructive, much good could be accomplished by you. Life is very rarely one sweet song. On the other hand, it should not be a continuous dirge.

Your horoscope predicts a considerable degree of success, but not much happiness. You could have both if, figuratively speaking, you would quit wearing smoke-colored glasses. You are studious, your probity is beyond question, and your plodding ability is recognized by all. As a mate, if you ever marry, you will not be much of a "wow." Your character lacks the essential ingredients of congeniality and "simpatia."

ART IN FURNITURE

Art has never been put on a production basis; art has never been hurried — nor can it be. Good furniture is made with all the care in construction that modern research has taught, but those little niceties — the obscure details, the character of the rare hand work, the finishing — these constitute the gulf between fine furniture and commercial furniture.

Good Furniture compares with fine books that are issued in limited editions, and the owner of a choice piece may enjoy the full satisfaction of knowing that what he has is correct in every particular — as fine as furniture can be built.

"LOOKING AND FEELING 100% BETTER," SAYS MRS. RODMAN

Indianapolis, Ind.—"For many years I lived constantly in the dread of constipation," writes Mrs. G. M. Rodman of this city, "exerting the greatest care in my selection of food. Upon the advice of my doctor, I commenced taking a small quantity of Pluto Water each night and morning, diluted in plain hot water. It is an unequalled preventive. Since beginning to use Pluto Water regularly I both look and feel a hundred per cent better."

Mrs. Rodman's case is only one of hundreds on file. Pluto Water gently, surely flushes the system clean of waste poisons that cause untold suffering. It cannot form a habit. Works in from thirty minutes to two hours. It is Nature's own way of relieving—preventing constipation.

Pluto Water is bottled at French Lick Springs, Indiana, and is sold at drug stores and fountains everywhere.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"A WOMAN!" The gasp was universal.

"In this room?" That was Thomas Andrews.

"He's lying to save himself," the golden beauty of Lois Andrews' voice caught up the echoes of all the other voices. "Such men do."

"I wouldn't put a skirt into it if she hadn't got herself and the rest of us in the middle."

"Which one?" Dr. Barnes asked.

"Is that necessary?" Lois answered him. "It couldn't possibly be true and it would just be embarrassing to a guest."

"Of course it isn't true, but we might as well see what the man has to say," her brother-in-law answered. "Which girl?"

"Well, I didn't get such a good look at her, because it was dark, but I'll bet a Kentucky horse against a canary that it was the gal that is wearing the blue dress over there. The one with the big blue eyes!"

"Sue!" Dr. Barnes' voice was incredulous.

"Miss Merryman!" Thomas Andrews' voice was interested.

"Sue!" Alan Andrews' voice was disgusted.

Then Thomas Andrews spoke. "Don't be ridiculous. You will have to answer for this as well as for anything else you know."

"Let the fellow talk," Jim interferred. "That's what we want."

"All right, speak your piece," Thomas Andrews answered. "Quiz him Jim."

"How do you know that Sue Merryman is the girl?" Jim asked.

"Don't ask me. Ask Barney. He knows." Then he stopped. He hadn't meant to betray a name. "I don't know who she is. I'm just a helper. He and some Sheba had this job planned. Ask her. She can tell you about it."

"Planned? What do you mean?" the inquisitor asked.

"When she gave a signal we were to take the fort. That's all I know. She's an inside man... girl. Put the works on her. She can tell you."

Sue had sat in astonished silence. The situation was much too preposterous for anyone to take it seriously, she was sure. But it was uncomfortable.

Now as she glanced at the faces something in their expression startled her. Made her feel ill. They were all so politely, avidly waiting for more.

Maybe they didn't know it but it was just as though the masks had dropped away and the greedy curiosity was making its way through, stark, unadorned, ravenous.

In that moment Sue realized that nobody there really knew her. It only she had told this man called Jim that she was Corinne Becker's sister! She would have to do it now! It would save her. Only maybe he wouldn't believe her. Still, there were such things as long distance communications.

She hadn't looked at Dr. Barnes.

MASSAGE THOSE SUMMER LINES FROM FOREHEAD

Bright summer sunshine has more than one way of attacking beauty. One of the most objectionable is the appearance of tiny, fine wrinkles between the eyes or across the forehead, caused by eye strain.

You have gazed off at a beautiful sailboat silhouetted across the water without thinking that the intense glare of the sun is causing you to wrinkle your forehead. Or you have lounged on the sand, forgetful of sun hat or dark glasses.

For these sins against beauty you must pay.

If the wrinkles are vertical lines between the eyes try the following treatment:

Dip your three middle fingers into your favorite cold cream and with the cushioned part of the fingertips pat the space between your eyes gently but firmly. Continue until the furrows have been "ironed out" and the patting has stimulated the circulation.

If the wrinkles are horizontal across the forehead, try the same patting movement but pat all over the forehead from temple to temple.

Another method of treating wrinkles between the eyes is to hold or stretch the skin out smooth and then apply adhesive tape to hold it thus. This treatment is not quite so beneficial as the first because there is no stimulation to the circulation.

Above all things, when you are trying to counteract that summer crop of wrinkles, be sure to protect your eyes from further strain. If you are going out in a sharp wind or bright sunshine, wear glasses with dark lenses.

The eyes themselves will need to be rested. Weak salt water that has been boiled and cooled makes a good eye bath. Boracic acid and distilled water is also beneficial for strained eyes. Rest the eyes by covering them with your hands for several minutes.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

JEALOUSY OF YOUNGER BROTHER CAN RUN MAN'S CAREER — PATRONIZING FIANCE MUST NOT RISK MATRIMONY

Dear Virginia Vane: I am married to a man I love, but we are very poor and I cannot help but long for some of the luxuries of life. It is particularly hard for me, because my husband's brother is much more successful, although younger than my husband. He and his wife have everything to make them comfortable, and we are always the poor relations. Can you tell me how to overcome this dissatisfaction and jealousy?

ROSITA.

The best way to overcome your present attitude is by realizing that nothing will hold your husband back more and make him less successful than your present state of mind. Believe me, you can help him or hinder him in this matter more than anyone else in the world.

The position of the older brother faced with the spectacle of his younger brother's great success, is not a comfortable one. He feels his inferiority keenly. He is over-sensitive on the matter. Very often, if he's handled wrong, he will allow his life to go to absolute ruin, because he feels: "What's the use? There's that kid way ahead of me. I'm a failure. I haven't a chance."

The younger brother is already a great worry to your husband, undoubtedly, and perhaps a great discouragement. If you, with your jealousy and your envious comparisons, intensify his feeling on the subject, you drive him to greater despair. Try to understand that it's up to you to be optimistic and helpful—for your own sake. You'll accomplish nothing but failure if you keep reminding him of his failure. He's only a half timer compared to his baby brother.

The knowledge that you can do something helpful—that you can offer worthwhile assistance, and help to make the future brighter for you both ought to take you out of the slough of despond. Instead of wasting time in jealous thoughts and vain speculations, get to work and be a ray of sunshine when you're most needed. Your influence is all-important in this particular problem. Use it wisely and well.

JERRY: Don't marry anyone because you think she's a dear, sweet girl and good housekeeper. If that's the best you can say about the lady you're supposed to be in love with, you're not ready to be married at all. Your attitude is patronizing rather than lover-like young man, and you'll make both of you miserable if you marry her, feeling the way you do.

You talk about her quite nice family, and her not-too-bad friends, and the fact that she will of course move in a different circle once she's married to you, and not once do you betray the slightest indication of gratitude and joy for the prize you've got.

In fact, you don't think she's a prize. You think you are. You imagine that because she's desperately in love with you right now and willing to accept your word as law, she'll go right on being humbly grateful for the honor you've done in marrying her. She won't.

No, after she's got used to being Mrs. Jerry she'll develop a personality of her own before your astonished eyes and you'll discover that she has opinions and tastes quite different from yours which will cause you endless trouble, if you're determined to make her into a perfect example of what you think a woman ought to be.

If you're not in love with the girl, just as she is, you're not starting on the right basis. If you don't feel some real humility concerning the love she has for you, your attitude will be plain to her sooner or later, and you cannot help but make her unhappy. Think it over and see whether you can't find some real admiration and devotion for her somewhere in your make-up. If not, marriage doesn't sound like a very good bet under the circumstances.

F. V. Thanks for a very kind and helpful letter. It is a pity you missed your chance but you have a great deal to hope for now that you settled the major problem so satisfactorily.

MY NEIGHBOR Says —

Save all lemon and orange peel for fuel. If your fire is low in the morning just place a few skins on the coals with one stock of wood and in five minutes you will have a fire hot enough to put fresh coal on.

When preparing fruit salad sprinkle bananas, peaches, pears and apples with lemon juice or marinate with French dressing as soon as they are cut. This prevents discoloration from exposure to air.

Sandpapering baby's shoes before they are worn prevents slipping and saves many a fall.

A weak solution of chloride of lime will remove peach stains from linen.

NOTICE LULL IN CHEESE TRADING

Sheboygan—(P)—A temporary lull in trading with cheese accumulating in store rooms of dealers in Wisconsin was noted in the weekly study made by the Wisconsin Cheese Market committee and released Saturday.

"The lull was especially noticeable on daisies and horns, which are in surplus, and largely the cause of the weakness in the market," the committee reported. "Twins are considerably short in comparison with last year, with rather an active demand."

The committee warned factories and salesmen against overproduction of small cheese and added that the condition is not alarming at this time and the outlook for the coming winter is that production will be much lower than a year ago.

MARRIAGE MIX-UP
Dubno, Poland—Here is a strange love story. A wealthy local merchant had four daughters, one pretty and three plain. The pretty girl was in love with a poor man, but lack of money prevented the marriage. The merchant had set heavy dowries on the three plain girls, but none on the pretty one. The young man acted. He ignored the pretty girl entirely and paid violent attention to one of the plain ones. A date for the marriage was set. Just as he was to put the ring on her hand, the lights went out. The service continued in the dark. Lights! And he had placed the ring on the finger of the pretty sister. He had already received most of the dowry.

VICKS VAPORUB NOW IN Stainless FORM...

Your same Vicks
..only Color removed Same Formula..
Same Price

REAL news in 26 million homes! The Vicks VapoRub you have always used... now comes to you in white, stainless form! A new process simply removes all color—and with it any chance of stain. It's the same matchless formula... at the same price.

There is nothing like Vicks, as most mothers know. It acts externally and directly—right where the trouble is... by stimulation and inhalation — 2 ways at once. That's why it's the standby for colds in 3 out of 4 American homes—for all the family.

Your druggist now has Vicks in either the familiar original amber or new white, stainless form. Whichever you prefer, you get exactly the same time-tested medication—the same dependable Vicks—and at the same price.

VICKS VAPORUB

Don't "dose" colds except on your Doctor's Advice

In Original Amber, Too Your Druggist has Both

For a generation an especially selected amber petrolatum has been used as the base of Vicks, because we found no white or "stainless" base of satisfactory melting point and viscosity that would permit the gradual, long-continued vaporizing action that is distinctive of Vicks.

Through the perfection of a process which removes the natural color, without otherwise affecting its properties, Vicks Chemists have at last made Vicks VapoRub possible in white, colorless form, for those who prefer it.

BEECH SENT TO COUNTY JAIL FOR 15 DAYS

Menasha Man Pleads Guilty to Charge of Resisting Officers

Menasha—George Beech, Menasha, who last Friday pleaded not guilty of resisting officers at a dance hall near Menasha on Aug. 22, changed his plea and was sentenced by Municipal Judge S. L. Spengler to Oshkosh to 15 days in the county jail with no alternative fine.

The defendant maintained that he had not actually taken part in the physical resistance to the officers, although he was with William Koenner and George Ackerman, who were fined $100 each or 60 days in jail.

The court took into consideration the fact that Beech has been in jail in default of bond for his release since the day of his arrest shortly after the dance hall episode.

A man who gave the name William MacKenzie was arrested Saturday morning by Sheriff Nelson at Oshkosh, and arraigned in municipal court on a charge of vagrancy. He pleaded not guilty and was committed to the county jail until Sept. 24, the date of the trial, when he failed to provide a $100 bond for his appearance.

SPEAKERS ON LABOR DAY AIR RELIEF PLANS

Numerous Suggestions Are Being Studied at National Capital

Washington—(AP)—With full support of the Hoover administration, the national unemployment relief committee today resumed with eagerness its work of coordinating efforts to state and municipal governments to meet the problem of taking care of the jobless horde during the coming winter months.

Indian summer weather following closely on Labor day apparently had a stimulating effect. Walter S. Gifford, national relief director, went forward with plans to meet with the advisory committee appointed by President Hoover.

Mr. Hoover is expected to make known soon when the several score of leading national financiers and industrialists in the group will gather to give advice on ways and means of tiding over the cold season, the several million, who are without work or sustenance.

During the chief executive's Labor day rest period at his Rapidan camp, he conferred with James R. Garfield of Cleveland, former secretary of the interior, and a member of the relief group, and together studied the unemployment situation and suggestions made by Labor Day speakers to remedy it.

With his return to the White House today, President Hoover will give his early attention to reports from states, municipalities and welfare organizations on the progress made toward meeting the problem. It is understood several were received over the weekend.

While these steps were being taken, millions of persons who yesterday heard Labor leaders, cabinet officers and members of congress discuss the situation, began to digest the remarks, most of which were directed against the much questioned "dole."

William C. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, at Oshkosh, Iowa, expressed abhorrence of the dole, but asserted that work must be provided idle by industry.

Frank Morrison, secretary of the labor federation, told a Chicago audience, six million men, representing 30,000,000 people, were out of employment. Matthew Woll, vice president of the organization, declared those who control jobs should contribute their share.

Doak Is Optimistic
At Johnson City, Tenn., Secretary Doak of the labor department, voiced some optimism in predicting that before long the nation would be again on the "substantial plane of prosperity."

Senator Davis told an audience in his state of Pennsylvania this nation had been "weathering the greatest industrial storm in the history of the world in a far better manner than any other."

The southern Democratic leader, Senator Harrison of Mississippi, at Tampa, Fla., blamed the Republican sponsored "tariff wall" for the unemployment situation and declared he was ready "to throw precedent to the winds and appropriate money out of the federal treasury" to meet it.

Another Democrat, Senator Wagner of New York, recommended a $2,000,000,000 public construction program in speaking at the fair in Syracuse, along with modification of the Volstead law, as a solution.

Gov. William H. "Alfalfa" Bill Murray of Oklahoma, told the labor celebrators at Chicago that the battle cry of 1932 politics must be "bread, butter, bacon and eggs."

The American Federation of Labor's national committee for prohibition law modification issued a proclamation placing the responsibility for the unemployment wave on "Volsteadism."

Who's News Today

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
New York — For many years, Frank Morrison has been the instrument by which the American Federation of Labor tunes in annually with the rest of the world. Speaking at Soldiers' Field, Chicago, Monday, a highly venerable secretary of the federation, the most articulate voice in the labor movement, again brought down to date the hopes and aspirations of his organization.

Mr. Morrison is a graduate of the Chicago Law school, and holds an LL. B. from Lake Forest university, with a year of post-graduate work. A member of the Chicago Typographical union, which he joined in 1873, he marched with his union up to the ramparts of labor militancy—and down again. There was a turning point in his career in 1911, involving two incidents which might be used to triangulate the right wing drift of the American labor movement.

In 1910, the supreme court of the District of Columbia found Samuel Gompers and Frank Morrison guilty of contempt in the Buck Stove case. The Buck stoves had been put on the "unfair list" of the federation. Gompers was sentenced to a year in jail and Morrison to six months.

Technicalities were delaying execution of the sentence, when Morrison became treasurer of the fund to defend the McNamaras, dynamiters of this time mark the high peak of labor belligerency in America. If there ever was a reddish glow over the federation, it was then.

The McNamaras confessed. The explosion blew up radicalism in the American labor movement. Gompers became more conservative than Kuhn, Loeb & Co. Morrison in his subsequent and continuing labor addresses formulated a new doctrine of cooperation and good will. At 72, he is the nestor of the laborites. He lives in Washington and is a member of the executive council of the Churches of Christ of America. He became secretary of the American Federation of Labor in 1897.

If Dr. Robert A. Millikan, who sailed Monday to visit Albert Einstein, should happen to run into Sir James Jeans in Europe, there might be a cosmic battle of sufficient interest to make the world forget its troubles. These two scientists are opposed in what may become one of the great scientific controversies of the age.

Dr. Millikan says the cosmic rays, seeping in somewhere from away out in space, are "the birth cry of infant worlds." Sir James says "they are the dying wail of a suicide." In other words, Dr. Millikan Fairly cloudy tonight; Wednesday unsettled, followed by showers and cooler in north portion by night.

General Weather
Light thundershowers occurred over the northwest portion of Wisconsin during the past 24 hours, while some scattered showers also fell over Lake Michigan and portions of the western plains states. Temperatures still remain quite high over the country, with the exception of the eastern states and the southwest, where cooler weather has set in. Over the plains states and upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys, high temperatures have prevailed with maxima of from 90 to 100 degrees reported from many stations. Moorhead, Minn., reporting a maximum of 103 degrees yesterday. Conditions still remain unsettled over the western states because of low pressure over that region, so that showers may be expected in this section Wednesday, with continued fair weather tonight.

MORE DECLINES IN DIVIDENDS AROUND CORNER

Meetings of Many Important Companies Scheduled for Month

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
(Copyright 1931 by Cons. Press)

New York.—(CFA).—When Labor Day comes as late in September as it did this year, it loses some of its traditional significance as the date when business passes from the quiet of the vacation season and markets have the benefit of returning investors and speculators.

In the present instance, lateness of the holiday confuses comparisons of all sorts of trade figures with those of a year ago, when Labor Day fell on Sept. 1. For this reason the immediate flow of statistics will be less favorable than those of the preceding week.

In the case of retail trade, the lateness of the holiday has caused postponement of buying to such an extent that there is some agitation for fixing the Labor Day of the future on Sept. 1 instead of the first Monday of the month. Markets for securities did not wait until the national holiday was over but began to reflect the succession of bearish developments several days before the stock exchange closed on Friday. It had been hoped that with Wall Street people back on the job there would be an uplift in prices when trading was resumed today.

Rail Average Down

This expectation was dashed by the definite reaction since the first of the month, bringing down the rail average to a new low, with the last three market sessions witnessing a decline in the average of industrial and public utilities of about 3 points.

Inasmuch as the latest decline in stocks has reflected to a considerable extent the unfavorable dividend action by prominent corporations, much attention will be given to other dividend meetings scheduled for this week. Some of the most important occur today. Among those that will be most closely watched because of the possibility of dividend reductions are the Kennecott Copper American Car and Foundry, New York, New Haven and Hartford and Western Union. Other meetings tomorrow are those of American Brake Shoe, Endicott-Johnson, Standard Gas and Electric, and the J. R. Thompson companies. Wednesday dividend meetings are scheduled for directors of the New York Central and the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific and on Thursday action will be taken on the preferred dividend of the Southern Railway, which last week sold at a new low price of 40. Other important railroad dividend meetings later in the month are those of the Northern Pacific on Sept. 15 when it is expected that the rate will be reduced to at least 4 per cent; the Reading Co., on Sept. 25, which is also likely to produce a lower rate; and Baltimore and Ohio at the end of the month. The dividend on Baltimore and Ohio stock, now 5 per cent, is hardly likely to be maintained much longer at that figure. International Telephone and Westinghouse Electric directors also meet shortly.

Many Omissions
Standard statistics' compilations indicate that in the first eight months of this year there were 863 dividends omitted and 578 reduced. The number of those passed is about double the figure of a year ago and the number reduced compares with 198 in the first eight months in 1930.

Wall Street is just now more concerned with domestic than with foreign conditions but there are developments abroad, both favorable and unfavorable, that are worth the attention of those who trade in securities. The situation on the Berlin Bourse has improved from the panicky conditions that characterized its opening, after it had been closed nearly two months. The British parliament is expected to convene this week and present its plan for balancing the budget. Indications now are that a general election will take place in Britain this fall. Its outcome will determine whether the credit of $400,000,000 granted by the United States and France to the bank of England will be sufficient to protect the gold reserve of that institution. If England goes conservative, foreign capital will be disposed to assist Great Britain in her efforts toward recovery. If the radical element is successful, there will be further with-

U. S. CAN SOLVE ECONOMIC ILLS, GOVERNOR THINKS

LaFollette Says Labor Has Made Progress in Wisconsin

Fond du Lac.—(AP).—Faith in the ability of the nation to solve its economic problems was expressed by Gov. Philip LaFollette in a Labor Day address here.

"I believe," he said, "that a nation capable of mobilizing and training four million soldiers in time of war and sending them four thousand miles to shoot democracy into Europe, is capable of solving the present economic depression."

The governor also declared that Wisconsin labor has made progress despite the depression—"such substantial progress that Wisconsin labor leads all the organized forces of all other states in the rights and privileges that have been recognized and established by the government of Wisconsin."

Gov. LaFollette reiterated his opinion that the wealth of the nation should be redistributed in order to bolster the purchasing power of the people and that this can be done by revising the tax laws.

"We must have mass consumption," he said. "We must put purchasing power in the pockets of the masses. It is all right to say buy more but the vast majority do not have the where-with-all to buy more. How can they have the means when 504 persons in this country had incomes equal to the combined incomes of four million wheat and cotton farmers."

"But as citizens, through your government, you have the taxing power through which to redistribute the wealth of the nation and through which to equalize the purchasing power of the people. You can not keep the drawal of funds from Great Britain and a hard road ahead for her.

In South America the uprising in Chile the past week is extremely disturbing to those that have been attempting to bring about an improvement in South American dollar securities. There is also some anxiety concerning the conditions in Denmark, where the National bank has just raised its rediscount rate from 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 per cent.

LIFE'S ODDITIES

By George Clark

"O. K. Go ahead and stop buying from us and see what a tough time you have finding real chop suey."

purchasing power in the hands of a few, thus stifling consumption, and expect to have good times.

"We can correct over night tendencies that have been developing and which have been encouraged by reactionary legislation and administrative acts in the nation during a 25 year period, but all can, and must, in every corrective step that is taken see that each corrective measure is in harmony with the basic necessity of restoring the purchasing power of the farmer, the worker and the small businessman."

Gov. LaFollette termed the three handicaps in the solution of the problem of distribution "The great increase in the production of goods, the decrease of workers taking place at the same time the volume of production is increased, and the almost automatic elimination of older men from industry." He pointed out that the state had attempted to face these handicaps with child labor laws and old age pensions.

"The states that still allow child labor are responsible for one of the difficulties of these times," he said. "The states that have no old age pension system also contribute to make the depression worse."

He recited the changes made by the last legislature in laws affecting the working man, pointing to changes in the compensation law whereby, he said, workers would receive $725,000 more cash benefits for injuries next year than they received this year. He also called attention to the enactment of the labor code modeled on the Shipstead bill introduced in Congress. The new law was termed "a bill of rights for labor" and a goal for other liberal states.

"In short," he said, "on this Labor

Day, in the midst of this depression, Wisconsin labor can say that it has not gone back, nor has it stood still."

TRUCK DRIVER IS SOUGHT IN SLAYING

Girl Found Strangled in Greenwich Village Apartment of Suspect

New York.—(AP).—Jack Hartigan, 24, a truck driver, was sought by police today for questioning in the death of Miss Catherine Cronin, 20, an insurance office clerk, who was found strangled in the Greenwich Village apartment occupied by Hartigan, his mother and brother. The body was found in the apartment yesterday morning by the brother, Pat Hartigan.

Police said they learned Miss Cronin's death occurred some time after a dining party in the Hartigan apartment which wound up in a taxi cab ride and a traffic accident.

Miss Cronin, her sister Blanche, 23, the Hartigan brothers and Fred De Javannensis, a taxi cab driver, left the party early yesterday morning with Jack Hartigan driving the cab. The ride ended when the cab hit a fire hydrant in upper Manhattan.

Other members of the party told police that Jack Hartigan and Miss Catherine Cronin walked away from the scene of the accident.

Pat Hartigan said when he arrived home he found the girl's body. His brother was asleep. Pat said he awakened Jack and told him the girl was dead.

"She was dead when I brought her up here," Pat said his brother told him. He said Jack then put on his clothes and announced he was leaving town.

Strangulation was established as the cause of death by an autopsy.

Appleton All-Stars Lose Quest For State Playground Ball Title

DEFEATED IN FINAL GAME BY KENOSHA CLUB

Beat Madison, Oshkosh, Manitowoc to Go Into Championship Battle

LAYING almost five games in three days, the All-Stars were forced to rely almost entirely on Emmett Mortell to do the hurling. Appleton All-Stars lost their quest for the state playground ball championship Monday morning when defeated by Kenosha 5-4 and 2-1. The Stars won entry baseballs for their efforts.

The tournament which saw 17 teams entered was the first ever held by the Wisconsin municipal athletic relations committee organized among play directors last year. The 1932 tournament will be held at Madison. It was announced, and district eliminations probably will be held before the state tournament.

Starting Saturday afternoon the All-Stars drew Madison as their first opponent and administered a 4 and 1 trouncing to the highly touted down staters. The Madison club scored its first run—on two walks and an error—when Mortell going on the mound during the opening inning and pitching no hit ball. Peotter hit a home run for Appleton while Schroeder stole the honors in the field.

Sunday morning the Stars met and defeated Oshkosh 10 and 6. Crane springing and giving way to Mortell in the seventh, with the count 6 and 4 for Appleton and two on and no one out. Before Mortell could get under way one run scored on a fluke hit and then Mortell walked two and forced in the tying run.

Play 13 Innings From then on the big fellow had things his own way but it was not until the thirteenth frame that Peotter connected for a home run which roused his mates to action and resulted in three more counters and a victory after three hours of playing. The Stars then dashed for the showers and grabbed a lunch in order to get back on the field by 2:15 to play the Manitowoc Soges. The Stars asked an extra hour rest but the Soges couldn't see it that way and again the team went to work.

Scoring one run in the first frame two more in the second and two more in the third the Stars stepped off to a 5 and 0 lead, as the Soges changed pitchers. A home run in the fourth set the count at 5 and 1 for Appleton.

Three more runs were chalked up for the Stars in the sixth frame and Manitowoc made the score 8 and 2 in the seventh by picking up a tally. They managed to count four scores before the frame ended. With the score 8 and 6 for the Stars.

It was a tired gang of ball players that returned to Appleton Sunday night after almost three contests and every thing possible was done to keep Mortell's arm limbered up. But the effort had been too much, not only for Mortell but also for the rest of the club.

For four innings the boys battled on even terms with the Kenosha outfit and then things broke against them. An outfield error gave Kenosha two runs and an infield miscue resulted in a third.

The fifth inning saw the Stars score a run and gain the count 8 and 1. In the seventh the Kenosha team scored again and Peotter gave the last salute for Appleton with a lusty home run.

Fans attending the game pulled for Appleton throughout the series and because the boys were youngsters hoped the team would crash through to the title. Opponents of the club all were older men. When presentation of medals was made the Stars came in for much praise.

Green Bay—After a Green Bay rally in the eighth inning fell one score short of a Wisconsin Rapids victory in the ninth to win the final Fox River Valley league game here Monday.

Bastling relieved Biot on the mound for Wisconsin Rapids in the eighth. Brandt, Biot and Hribernik hit home runs for the winners. While Gordon Zudmiller poked one out of the lot for the Green Sox.

Shawano—It was advertised as a ball game—and it wasn't, at least not as good ball games go. It wasn't advertised as a vaudeville show and it was—a doggone good one that left you with your sides aching from laughter and in a mighty good humor. And because Appleton won 10 and 4 it was just that much more enjoyable for Appleton fans.

The "head man" in this particular vaudeville show was one Joseph Shields who plays third base for Appleton assisted by a gentleman by the name of Erv Wenzlaff who is a good umpire at times and who serves as a pretty good partner for Shields on occasion.

The third member of the trio was a Mr. Gharriy who catches for Shawano but who Sunday entered into the show because of his weakness as a ball player and who therefore drew all the bores and jibes or in stage vernacular the tomatoes and the cabbages and the onions.

The head man in the show wasn't funny in the early part of the afternoon but he wisecracked only occasionally and spent the rest of the time helping the Fords score runs on Shawano. That is he wasn't funny if one excepted his mugging for Mr. Shields ambles down to the bases in a manner most reminding of the lead man in a fat man's race.

Joe Gets Started It was long about the fifth or sixth inning with the ball game more or less tucked away that Shields started his clowning for fair and soon had everyone, the Shawano club included, forgetting about the national pastime and laughing and enjoying what otherwise was a drab afternoon.

Hits and Errors
BY "MAC"
The game was a typical last-of-the-schedule encounter and no one gave a whoop what happened. The game started late because the Fords didn't arrive on time and one, Bowers arrived in the ninth late having come from a softball battle at Oshkosh.

Because Bowers didn't get into the game Eggert was at lead off position and Tornow again cavorted in short. Dats Crowe performed in left field.

Sandhlin was a hero and then a dub all afternoon. The Shawano left gardener made stunning catches of fly balls but every time one came bounding at him it went on bounding right past.

The game was played at the North Shore diamond and as hot a hole never existed. The diamond is in a hollow and there was nothing but heat there with no wind. The athletes beat a continual march to the pump over fear the Ford dug out.

Reports are that while Shawano may not have done as well in the Valley this year the city will try it again next if permitted. A new group will back the team next season, "tis said, and put out a better club. There's plenty material available if someone with a sharp tongue directs activities.

Base on balls—off Biot, 1; off Gaffney, 5; off Roiger 3. Left on bases—Green Bay, 7; Wisconsin Rapids, 15; double plays—Clusman to Kotal; Kotal to Zudmiller; Sandrin to Judnick; umpires—Lepine and Mertz. Attendance 400.

Kidding his mates over their misdeeds or differences with the umpires and simulating terrific arguments with Wenzlaff over balls and strikes Shields blossomed forth in the seventh or eighth wearing a French beret which prompted Mr. Wenzlaff to turn his cap around as a Nick Alroek as an indication that it was as close as he could come to copying Mr. Shields.

The leading man then parlayed a couple times and Mr. Baldy Eggert over on first base we-we'd as just as if he knew what he was talking about. Soon came a request from Mr. Shields for Mr. Wenzlaff's breast protector for an easel and bat for a brush, all of which did not come to pass because these happened to be a man at the plate and Mr. Wenzlaff might get soaked in the wish bone with a foul tick.

Soon there after Mr. Shields announced that because he had a good voice and poor eye sight he had the requisites of a good umpire and wished to call the balls and strikes. All of which he did very nobly as Wenzlaff held up a finger and his right arm left hand to indicate to Sir Joseph.

Wenzlaff Does a Song
Occasionally Mr. Wenzlaff would have the stage to himself and would do a little dance to the old pump and the old tin cup for 'twas terrible hot in that hole they call the North Shore bowl up here. Then he'd return to the plate to do a song and a monologue the last strike in a beautiful high C that had all the thrills and feeling of an Amelita Galli-Curci, and then would show his versatility with a "ball" that put the lowest note in "Asleep in the Deep" to shame.

And where, you may ask does Mr. Gharriy enter into the show? Well, he made his entrance when Lefty Behr not a hit and then hobbled to first base obviously with a sore leg. A runner was asked and Mr. Gharriy announced that if Lefty could hit he could run. And thereafter Mr. Gharriy was cast in the role of villain and of course no one likes the villain.

Mr. Behr succeeded in getting even with the villain soon after by making him swing at three balls and that pleased the audience. Mr. Gharriy of course received a pan-ping and as he missed a passed ball or failed to catch well enough he was panned some more, until on one or two occasions he stopped the show and started to talk back to the audience even admitting he was ready to fight if some of his tantalizers would come off their seats.

Smith Wins Bat Crown
Getting back to what the afternoon exhibition was supposed to have been and wasn't, it might be well to record that Manager Len Smith of the Fords connected for two singles in four official times at bat and probably finished the season as the Valley league's best batter. And unless the moguls feel the depression too strongly he will be rewarded with a wrist watch for his prowess at a later date.

Appleton scored three runs in the opening inning on two hits, a walk and a couple fielder's choices. Eggert opened for the Fords with a walk and was killed going to second on a fielder's choice of Shields's grounder. Joe moved to second in the play, however, when the throw for first went wild. Murphy's single into left enabled Joe to tally and Leo went to second when the ball bounded away from the Indian left gardener. Len Smith walked and Tornow singled to score Murphy. Smith tallied from third a moment later on a fielder's choice that erased Tornow.

Shawano scored one run in the second when Schultz was safe as Welsgerber booted his grounder, moved to second on a sacrifice bunt, third on a passed ball and home on a wild pitch.

The fifth saw four runs for Appleton. Eggert again drew a walk. Shields grounded out and Murphy walked. Smith scored Baldy with a drive to right and Len Smith advanced to base while Tornow was grounding out. Welsgerber followed with a single to left and Murphy and Len galloped home. Welsgerber moved to second on the play and scored on Crowe's double to left.

Hoffman Gets 3 Bagger
Shawano missed a chance to score in the last half the fifth when P. Hoffman hit one in the general direction of Berry lake and it bounded into the scrub oaks and Crowe couldn't find it. Just before Hoffman got to third Dats picked up the pill and tossed to Shields who tossed to Murphy who tagged Hoffman when he failed to slide into the plate.

Three hits gave Shawano two runs in the sixth and the Fords opened the seventh by getting a back to back home run. Shawano missed a scoring opportunity when the hero went out over the villain. Mr. Gharriy who you will remember as the villain walked and moved to second on another walk. One of Behr's low ones got away from Murphy and Gharriy moved to third and seeing home plate uncovered as Murphy went after the ball kept on running. Shields grasped the situation about the same time and dashed for the plate too, catching the pill and tagging the villain as the crowd applauded. Shawano's last run came in the ninth on a walk and two singles.

And thus ends the 1931 valley baseball season with the Fords in third place, not such a hot accomplishment when one remembers they led the loop through half the season. Maybe they'll do better next year, maybe.

NEENAH'S Merchants clinched the Little Fox River Valley league championship for 1931 by victories in two games over the weekend, but it took a pair of the best pitching performances shown this season to give the leaders victories over battling cellar niners. Rival hurlers held the Neenah slugs to three runs in twenty-two innings, as the Merchants beat DePere's next-to-last-place nine, 2-1 on Sunday and Menasha's cellar champs, 1-0 on Labor Day.

Koney and Clark hooked up in a hurler's duel at DePere which saw each team garner only four scattered hits in nine innings and no runs until the eleventh stanza. Neenah scored once in the eleventh but Manders singled to center with two down and men on second and third for Koney's nice hurling. Marty led the winning hitters with three in five and Lannoye had three in six for the losers.

In a postponed game Monday, Harry Fahrenkrug, boss hurler of the circuit, held Menasha to a single hit, Ponton clouting a single late in the fray. And well he needed to hurl one-hit ball for Maciejewski scattered seven Neenah hits so well that the Merchants would have been held scoreless in nine frames but for the only extra-base blow of the game, a three-bagger by Eddie Gullickson. Fenske opened the first frame with a single and then came that triple but after that the Eagle hurler settled down to five hit ball for the rest of the game. Fenske and Gullickson each had two in four for Neenah, but Fahrenkrug's sparkling support was a feature of the Merchants' play. Maciejewski was hurling his second game in two days, finishing the last game against Appleton Sunday from the early frames on to win, 5-2.

Chute's Beaten
Little Chute helped Neenah take a two-game lead by losing to the fighting Green Bay nine, 10-2. The Baymen firmly entrenched themselves in third place by winning their fourth game in the last five starts with the help of a few walks, several stolen bases and five Chute errors at crucial moments. The play was about equal in hitting and the score was 2-2 in the fourth and 4-2 in the sixth. In the eighth Bay runners ran wild and costly errors gave the winners six tallies. Kranzusch tried the iron man stunt for Appleton, beating Omro, 10-7 in the opener, but losing to Maciejewski's relief hurling in the finale, 5-2.

Final games in the league next Sunday bring DePere to Little Chute and Neenah to Green Bay. The latter game may be called off, however, by agreement of the managers, because of the Packers football game. In that case Neenah will meet Larson, second place team of the Winnebago County league in a challenge game at Neenah. Appleton Athletics also may meet the Norfolk

Dan Courtney Is Crowned City Open Golf Champ After 7-5 Win Over Jim McKenney

"B" Flight Title Goes to O. Hurley, Appleton High School Star

SHOOTING par or below par golf for practically every one of his last 13 holes, Dan Courtney swamped Jimmy McKenney 7 and 5 Monday afternoon at the municipal golf course to win the 1931 city open golf championship. The match ended abruptly on the thirteenth green when Courtney laid his opponent a dead stytle and McKenney hit Dan's ball with his try for the cup.

The finalists paced each other in the morning 18-hole battle until the thirteenth hole. On the thirteenth and fourteenth McKenney's drives found the rough and on the sixteenth and eighteenth trees spoiled his play and Courtney took advantage to end 4 up at noon.

The champion opened the afternoon's play with two birdies, sinking a 55-foot putt on his second shot from near the edge of No. 2 green for a birdie 2, and take a 6 up lead. McKenney came back strong the remainder of the third nine, featuring two long putts to make it 4 up again at the end of 27 holes. On the twenty-first hole he drove several feet from the edge of the green and then sank his second shot from that position. Courtney had a 38 for the last 13 holes and McKenney a 42.

Courtney's play was featured by excellent work on his approach shots many landing on the green and near the cup. To reach the finals he defeated Lyle Spencer, medalist both in 1930 and this year, 1 up. McKenney reached the title play by halting Rudy Vogt, 1930 city champion, in another tough battle, 1 up. Heldman "B" Champ

In "B" flight, S. Heldman, Appleton high school golfer, beat O. Hurley, Riverview Club caddy for the title. Heldman beat Erv. Feldhahn, 3 and 2 in the semis and Hurley whipped E. A. White, 6 and 5. Orville Strutz forfeited to Emmett Verberick in the finals of "C" flight when he took a Labor day trip. He had beaten Elmer Gresenz, third and 2, while Verberick triumphed over H. Schroeder.

Bruno Bialkowski beat Cliff Huhn 7 and 6, in "D" flight. Huhn had conquered M. Strutz and Bruno squeezed out a win over Cy Lippert, in one of the best matches of the meet, 1 up on the twentieth hole. Jack Rimal won easily in "E" flight from Jim Law. Law had whipped Cliff Bauer and Fumal had beaten E. Jensen. Phil Rundquist was crowned flight "F" champ, beating Harold Finger. Rundquist beat Earl Weber in the semis and Finger drew a bye.

Wins Silver Trophy
Courtney became temporary possessor of the silver city title trophy and was presented with a gold medal and merchandise prize. McKenney received a silver medal and a prize and Spencer a silver medal for low score of 77 in the qualifying round. Each flight champion received a bronze medal and a merchandise prize.

Other awards in the form of merchandise went to Joe Bruttigman, second low in the qualifying round, George Packard, oldest entry in the tournament, and Harold Finger, Joe Gullfoyle and Ben Laird highest scores in the qualifying round.

Professor O. P. Falkfield, chairman of the park board, who witnessed the last 13 holes of the title match, presented the prizes to Courtney and McKenney. All medal winners will receive their trophies as guests of honor at the city-wide golf banquet, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, within a few weeks.

PAPERMAKERS, KAWS BATTLE TO TIE IN 11 INNING CONTEST

Michaelson Nicked for 15 Blows Until Relieved by Marty Lamers

Kimberly—The fans who attended the ball game between Kimberly and Kaukauna at Kimberly Labor day were given a taste of everything that could possibly happen in one game. The game went 11 innings and was called by Umpire Stark because of darkness, brought on by a coming rain storm. The score at the end of the game found the teams deadlocked with eight runs each. Mr. Michaelson the pride of the Kaukauna ball club was given a warm reception by the Kimberly batters and 15 hits were made off him. Poca was touched for nine hits.

Stark, chief umpire had one tough day behind the plate. The fans almost raised the roof on every decision he made. In the last frame after Marty Lamers had gone in to pitch in place of Michaelson and two strikes were called on them, he walked out of the box and Marty used the quick delivery. Umpire Stark called them out on strikes, then changed his decision. Something very near a riot resulted and it took a good five minutes to clear the crowd that ran on the field.

Kimberly Scores in First
Kaukauna started things in the first with two hits but Poca struck out the last two men to retire the side. Kimberly scored in its half of the first inning when the first man walked, advanced to second on a bunt and scored when Hackbarth singled into deep center. Kaukauna looked good in the second when it scored three

FLOP OF CUBS AND BRAVES IS TALK OF NATIONAL LEAGUE

Homers by Ruth and Gehrig Feature Yank Twin Win Over Macks

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
VIRTUALLY certain that the world's series again will pit the Philadelphia Athletics against the St. Louis Cardinals, baseball's major league fans perhaps can revive flagging interest by cogitating upon the collapse of two National league clubs, the Chicago Cubs and the Boston Braves.
The Cubs, picked to give the Cardinals a battle for the pennant, today had lost nine straight games and fallen into fourth place in the standings. The Braves, sensations of the circuit during the early months and a fighting ball club until the last few weeks, have lost 16 of their last 18 games and now are in sixth place, a half game ahead of the Phillies.
The Cardinals handed the Cubs a double beating in the holiday program yesterday, 1-0 and 8-3. Paul Derringer hung up his sixteenth victory of the season in the opener, scattering eight hits and fanning eight. Burleigh Grimes was master of the Cub batsmen in the nightcap although he was touched for 11 hits.

Robins Are Third
The Braves accepted two beatings from the Brooklyn Robins, 5-4 in 10 innings and 2-0 and the Robins moved into third place. Fresco Thompson's single drove in Babe Herman with the run that enabled Bill Clark to gain the decision over Ed Brandt in the opener. Van Mungo, recruit from the Eastern league, gave the Braves only three hits and struck out seven in the second game.

Carl Hubbell and Roy Parmelee pitched the New York Giants to victories over the Phillies, 6-0 and 2-1. Hubbell fanned nine and gave only three hits in the first game and Parmelee was reached for only four safeties in the second battle, decided by Allen's single with the bases filled in the sixth.

Effective pitching by Larry French and Ervin Brannan enabled the Pirates to chalk up their fifth and sixth straight wins at the expense of the Cincinnati Reds, 6-1 and 4-2.

Athletics Lose Two
The Athletics, although trounced twice by the New York Yankees, 15-3 and 9-4, still lead the American league parade by 13 games. The Yankees scored eight runs in the first inning of the opening game, largely because of the wildness of Athletic pitchers. Two home runs by Babe Ruth, No. 39 and 40, Gehrig's forty-second and one each by Larry and Dickey spelled disaster for the A's in the nightcap.

The Washington Senators maintained their hold on second place by whipping the Boston Red Sox twice, 7-5 and 15-1. The Senators got off to an early lead in each game, scoring six runs in the first three innings of the first game and 12 in the first two innings of the nightcap. Sam Rice collected three hits in each battle.

Cleveland's Indians won two games from the Chicago White Sox, 6-2, and 5-2 on good pitching by George Connally and Clint Brown while Detroit and St. Louis split even, the Tigers winning the opener, 3-2 and dropping the second, 11-7. The split left the Browns in fifth place, a half game ahead of Detroit.

Mayor Watson, to whom the challenge was issued, won the $100 purse which it was previously agreed would be donated to charity.

WORLD SERIES WILL START IN NATIONAL CLUB PARK, OCT. 1

Chicago—(P)—The 1931 world series will open in the park of the National league champion Oct. 1.

This was decided at a meeting in the office of baseball commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis yesterday. Should St. Louis win the title, two games will be played there, with the next two days set aside for traveling to the stronghold of the American league champion, where three games will be played. If that many are necessary. Should the series go more than five games, the two remaining contests would be played in St. Louis.

If the New York Giants should overhaul the Cardinals, the series will open at New York, with the third game scheduled for Oct. 3, in the American league title winner's park.

Only representatives of the Cardinals and Philadelphia Athletics attended the meeting.

SCHOMMER RETAINS STATE TENNIS TITLE

La Crosse—(P)—Against the stiffest competition he has met in three annual tournaments here, Billy Schommer, Milwaukee, yesterday retained his western Wisconsin singles and doubles tennis championships.

Schommer beat down the hard driving Gaston Bruton of Madison in four sets in the singles, 6-0, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5. He then teamed with Milton Reuhl, Milwaukee, to defeat Harold Amos, Milwaukee, and George Henderson, Pittsburgh. The scores were 6-5, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

ST. PAUL NEEDS BUT SEVEN MORE WINS TO CINCH A. A. PENNANT

Milwaukee Brewers Take Four Straight Games from Kansas City

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO—(P)—St. Paul needs only to pick up seven more victories in 21 games to win the American association championship, and nothing has occurred to indicate the Saints can't do it.

This figuring includes the mathematical possibility that Kansas City might win all of its 22 remaining games, something that is possible, but so improbable as to merit no consideration. The Saints today were leading the Hickey circuit by 14½ games, while the Blues were not even certain of finishing in second position, after what has happened to them in Milwaukee.

Brew Win 4 Games
Kansas City, with four straight victories over Indianapolis and a four and one half game margin in second place, moved into Milwaukee in a highly confident state—and took four rousing beatings in a row. The in and out Brewers opened a series today with the league leaders, only a half game behind Kansas City, which faced Minneapolis.

Minneapolis yesterday completed what might be considered a very successful series with St. Paul, by dividing a doubleheader. The split also gave the Millers two victories in the four game series, something that has not been accomplished against the Saints very often this season. Slim Harris pitched St. Paul to a 6 to 4 victory in the morning game, while a nine run uprising in the third inning of the afternoon contest aided Minneapolis to an 11 to 8 decision. Frank McGowan, Miller outfielder, led all batsmen for the day with five hits in nine trips, including a homer in each game.

Milwaukee came from behind to take both games from Kansas City by identical scores of 1 to 0, and gain two full games on the Blues for second place. The day's accomplishments ran the Brewers' string to six straight, and gave them 16 victories in their last 22 games, as well as affording Bud Connolly to round out 18 straight games at second base for Milwaukee without an error.

Columbus slammed out 37 hits in two games against Toledo and won both engagements, 18 to 6, and 14 to 3. Carlisle Littlejohn pitched excellent relief baseball for the Red Birds in the opener, while Clarence Heise, just up from the Three Eye league, quelled the Hens in the second game.

Some very fancy pitching was produced in the Indianapolis-Louisville holiday bill. Wills Morrell and Ken Penner gave four hits each in the first game, with the former gaining a 2 to 1 decision for the Indians. A newcomer named Thomas, a product of the Oklahoma City club of the Western league, held the Colts to two singles in the second game and Indianapolis squeaked out a 1 to 0 decision.

SEE RECORD CROWD AT CUB-SOX CHARITY GAME

Chicago—(P)—With an advance sale of around $25,000, tomorrow's charity baseball game between the White Sox and Cubs promises to add more than $50,000 to Governor Emerson's unemployment relief fund. No grand stand seats have been sold, while 25,000 or more, going on sale tomorrow morning at $1 each. In addition, a number of $1.50 seats are available. With good weather, Comiskey park is expected to seat the biggest crowd to watch a baseball game in Chicago.

ALLISON LOSES IN U. S. SINGLES UPSET

Defeated by Berkeley Bell; Bryan Grant Beats Brugnion

Forest Hills, N. Y.—(P)—Once again Berkeley Bell has lived up to his reputation as the "giant killer" of American tennis players.

The 130-pound dynamo from Dallas, Texas, sprang the first big upset of the national singles championship yesterday when he eliminated Wilmer Allison, a fellow Texan from Austin, No. 3 in the national ranking. The scores were 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, 5-4. A year ago Bell astonished the experts by removing Jean Borotra from the championship in the first round.

So great was the din made by the crowd that after the third set Allison asked that the match be finished on an outside court. Tournament officials agreed but Bell put up a lively argument before he consented. Bell played at top speed all the way to gain his first victory over Allison since 1925.

Bryan Grant of Atlanta eliminated the chief French threat, Jacques Brugnon, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, 6-4, covering court so indomitably that Brugnon finally wore himself out.

All the other ranking stars, including the defending champion, Johnny Doeg, Frank Shields, Sidney Wood, George Lott, Ellsworth Vines, Cliff Sutter, John Van Ryn, Fred Perry, George P. Hughes, and Christian Boususs advanced to the third round. Doeg had to travel five sets to eliminate Eddie Jacobs.

Appleton Pure Milk baseball team of the Badger league was given a 9 and 0 victory over Darboy at Darboy Sunday when one of the latter team's players struck the umpire in a dispute over a decision. The umpire then awarded the game to Appleton. The Milks were ahead 6 and 2 when the rumpus started.

Next Sunday the Milks go to Wrightstown for the last game of the Badger league schedule.

HARMSWORTH RACE IS "NO CONTEST"

Two Boats Beat Starter's Gun; Kaye Don's Entry Overtakes

Detroit—(P)—Miss England II, the world's fastest hydroplane, lay at the bottom of the Detroit river today and with it were the hopes of Kaye Don, Great Britain's speed ace, to win the Harmsworth trophy race this year from the veteran Gar Wood.

With one heat safely won and needing only another victory to capture the trophy that Wood has held since 1920 when he won it in England, Don was eliminated from further competition in this year's international race by a double share of ill-luck.

As Don was swinging wide on the second turn at the lower end of the course on the first lap his craft struck the wash of Wood's Miss America IX and turned over. Don and his two mechanics, Roy Plat-ford and Dick Garner, were not hurt.

Almost at the instant the English challenger foundered, it was announced from the judges' stand that both Miss England II, and Wood's Miss America IX, had beaten the gun at the start by more than the permitted five seconds and were automatically disqualified from further competition. With only a single challenger in the race this would have ended the competition for Don even had he escaped the mishap rounding the lower end of the course.

To complete the series of mishaps that marred yesterday's races, a landing-dock on the mainland side of the course collapsed at the start of the race and dropped about 100 spectators into the water. All were rescued except a 3-year-old boy, who was reported missing.

This was the sixth time that a foreign challenge against Wood's supremacy as competitive speed boat king has been overtaken by misfortune. The splendid showing made by Don in Sunday's heat, however, had made him a long favorite in the trophy.

The officials' decision was that it was "no match." Consequently, while Wood continues to hold the trophy his name will not be engraved on it as the 1931 winner.

BASEBALL NINE HELD TO 2 HITS; DEFEATED, 6 TO 0

Petek Huris Masterful Ball for Clintonville Outfit

New London—Petek of Clintonville defeated the league leaders in a Labor Day game here, 6 to 0. One of the largest crowds to witness a game in years saw Petek strike out 20 men and allow only two hits. Dernbach and Myers were the only men to hit. Dernbach got as far as third, while Myers died on second. Westphal allowed only six hits, all coming when needed. Joe McClone helped Clintonville's chances by making several one handed stabs on first base. Outside of that Petek was the main attraction. In the seventh inning he ran up 14 strikeouts and in the eighth he gave his second and last hit of the game.

Up to the seventh inning the score was 2-0. The Four Wheel Drivers broke loose in this inning and shoved over four runs. Part of these runs were due to Petek's speedy's. The Clintonville outfit should have only been a single. He allowed the ball to roll between his legs.

Clintonville threatened again in the ninth when a walk and a double put men on second and third bases. Dobberstein's nice stop of a line drive halted any further scoring.

On Sunday, with Angie Beckert pitching, the Clintonville outfit defeated the Clintonville outfit, 10 to 1 score. Beckert kept his fast ball hopping over the corners with Nichols slugging at the empty air. The visitors' defense work was erratic and most of the ten runs were secured on errors.

Your Question And Its Answer

By J. A. Panneck, D. C. Palmer Chiropractor

QUESTION: I am forty years old and I am troubled with so-called indigestion. I have tried practically everything with no results. Will Chiropractic Adjustments help me? Please answer thru your column. What is the cause of indigestion? — Mrs. J. G. P.

ANSWER: Indigestion is a general term which expresses a failure of the digestive apparatus to properly function. The fault may lie in the stomach, the small intestine, the colon, the liver or the pancreas. In order to know what causes indigestion, we must first consider what causes digestion. Digestion is partly mechanical and partly chemical. Mechanically it consists of a churning and mixing of the food in the stomach, and intestines with rhythmic forward propulsion due to muscular contraction in the digestive tract. This muscular contraction is controlled through the nervous system.

The chemical phase of digestion results from the secretion in the stomach, intestine, liver and pancreas. If the secretions are abnormal, chemical digestion cannot be perfect. Here again the process is under the direct control of the nervous system. If the secretory nerves leading to the glands are cut, secretions cannot be formed. It is therefore evident that both mechanical and chemical digestion are dependent on the nervous system. The Chiropractor looks for the defect at some point along the path of the nerves which supply the digestive apparatus. Having discovered interference

A trio of double plays, a homerun, triple, double, plenty of singles, numerous errors, and walks were some of the features of the game. The struggle battle was settled by the Kaws with a final spurt. The winning run came in the ninth inning. Les Smith went to the mound for the Kaws in the first frame after Refke found the going tough, the Bays scoring nine runs in the inning. Kaukauna started the scoring in the first inning with three hits and three runs. Green Bay retaliated with nine runs on five hits and five walks. Refke allowed four of the five walks and all of the hits. Smith retired the side after walking one man.

D. Zuidmuller was hurling for the Bays, and in the second inning the Kaws started a barrage of hits. The Bays became excited, making six errors, and added by these, seven hits, and a walk, the Kaws scored 10 runs to take a 13 to 9 lead. D. Zuidmuller left the mound for Brann, who successfully retired the side, although his support was practically worthless.

Smith allowed no runs and but three hits up to the fifth inning although he was in trouble in the third and fourth innings. He managed to weather the two rounds, but weakened in the fifth when Kotal doubled against the left field fence to start the inning. Wall was retired, Phillips to Collins, but Kotal had stolen third. King got his first hit of the afternoon, socking one of Smith's slants over the left field wall to score himself and Kotal and putting the score at 13 to 11. Smith also struck a strikeout in this inning to end scoring threats, as Chusman and G. Zuidmuller had hit singles. In the sixth the Bays scored their last runs on four hits and an error. They took a 14 to 13 lead. The Kaws came back in the seventh to tie the score on one hit and two walks. In the eighth both teams were held scoreless, and in the ninth Vils was given a base on balls to start the inning and scored the winning run on a triple by Lefty Smith with two out. It was the fifth run to be scored by Vils for the Kaws. Wenzel retired to end the ninth.

The Bays threatened to tie the score in the last of the ninth when Krenbs hit his fourth single for the afternoon to start the frame. Rosenberg baited for Geyer but fled to center, Krenbs going to second. Kotal was safe on a fielder's choice, Wall was safe on Hackbarth's error, and King fled to third in left field, leaving the bases loaded.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

REVALUATION OF THE HAND IN SUPPORT OF A TAKEOUT.

Many players seem to find the question of revaluing their hands, when the best course is to support a Takeout bid by partner, beset with difficulties. This question arises whenever a player at the Contract table has made an Opening bid and partner has responded with a bid in another suit or notrump. Fundamentally the matter presents no real difficulties. In measuring the supporting value of the opponent's hand for partner's unopposed notrump Takeout, the first question to determine is whether the hand contains a Rebid in the suit originally named or has another alternative suit to offer as a possible trump. If it is decided that the hand will play better at notrump than a suit, then the Rule of Eight works with extreme accuracy in determining what it should be bid. This rule can be stated as follows:

The total of defensive honor-tricks in the pack will average 10 to produce at any bid about 8 out of the 13 tricks. Four tricks will be in with Aces and the remaining four with lower honors as valued in the Standard Table on the defensive basis. The Rule of Eight will not work with any other count of honor-tricks because it is based on the fact that the average hand, which contains one-fourth of the total share of honors, and which includes even Queens and Knaves is worth 2 honor-tricks plus. In rare cases honors will take 9 tricks and, a jctly speaking, the count of defensive honor-tricks for the four hands is not 8 but between 8-8½. Furthermore, the Rule of Eight of Eight to trump bids one must remember that any honor is apt to be ruffed and, therefore, while the maximum count of 8½ is constant the minimum may go below 8 tricks.

The fact that the total bidding value of a hand is 10 honors around the table at any bid regardless of how they combine is between 8-8½ honor-tricks is of decisive value in applying the process of elimination during the bidding. Through the simple use of the elimination process a player is aware at most stages of the minimum honor strength (and consequent game or penalty expectations) held in partnership and opponents' hands.

The 4-5-5½ Count
Combined hands holding 4-4½ honor-tricks will average to develop 3 low-card-tricks in addition. The hands should make 7 tricks or one notrump.

Combined hands containing 5½ honor-tricks will average to develop in addition 3 to 4 low-card tricks. The hands should make three notrump.

This simple 4-5-5½ rule serves as a basis for notrump Takeouts and Raises.

In revaluing hands in support of a suit Takeout, either Forcing or non-Forcing, the Opening Hand then becomes the Responding Hand. He should assume a bare minimum Takeout, but a hand that offers some possibilities on the attack. His hand in support contains some elements of strength which it would not contain if he were the Declarer. Thus he counts:

1. Trump length and honors.
2. Low cards and honor-tricks in side suits.
3. Ruffing tricks due to short suits (voids, singletons, and doubletons)—the added value.

He now deducts the values of the Opening bid previously shown by him—the balance, if any, will show his rebid values.

Take a concrete example from a recent match:

Opening Hand      Responding Hand
♦ A K J 6      ♠ Q 10 3
♦ Q 7 3 2      ♠ A K J 4
♦ A Q 9 3      ♠ K J 8 7 5

The Opening Hand bids one spade. The Responding Hand makes a Forcing Takeout of three clubs. Now the Opening Hand revalues his cards as club support. He counts his trump length at ½ trick and adds 1½ for the Ace-Queen. He adds 2 tricks for his ruffing of spades and ½ trick for the spade length. His singleton diamond he values at 2 tricks because of the four trumps and ½ trick value is accorded the heart length. Thus the total value of the Opening Hand in support of the Forcing Takeout sums up thus:

Trump length and honors 3
Spade honors plus length 2½
Diamond singleton..... 2
Heart length..... ½

7 tricks

The Opening Hand, strictly speaking, has therefore three Raises over and above the values already shown by the Opening bid. But, it is always best to give a low way to partner in case a trick fails to materialize. Hence,

Trump length and honors 3
Spade honors plus length 2½
Diamond singleton..... 2
Heart length..... ½

7 tricks

The Opening Hand, strictly speaking, has therefore three Raises over and above the values already shown by the Opening bid. But, it is always best to give a low way to partner in case a trick fails to materialize. Hence,

SAM

BY FREEMAN LINCOLN

SYNOPSIS: Two men love Sam Sheridan—Eugene Abbott, owner of the Express, and Freddy Munson, reporter on the same newspaper. She wants to marry Abbott because she needs money, but she loves Freddy. She asks her to marry him, on a business basis. Sam manages the business affairs of her half-brother Nelson, and her stepfather, Fourth Mildersea. Fourth is fanatical about prestige, which adds to Sam's alarm when she finds her half-brother dancing at a restaurant with Martha Givens, the maid of all work in the stable where she does the housework for the family. She is disappointed when she finds her fortune. Freddy calls Sam from a dance to ask her to marry him that night. She tells him that he would lose his freedom, and she would continue to be poor, and refuses him. "I'd hate to tell you where I'm going," he says, turning away from her.

She was pleased. "Or could you've asked! It will make me happy to feel that I may have been some good to you and your family. How I would like to meet your family."

Fourth's gaze remained on the carpet. "You must come out some afternoon to tea."

"May I? You don't know how I want to see you home. Do you actually mean it?"

"I mean it. You must come out some afternoon this week. I'll arrange it."

They were silent for a time. Then Eugene said, almost shyly; "Life is a funny thing, isn't it?"

Fourth shrugged. "I suppose it is."

"It's really awfully funny when you stop to think of it. Take us, for instance. You have a nice family and lots of nice friends, but

Chapter 5
SUDDEN LIGHT
"AREN'T you even going to say good night properly?" Sam asked.
"No," Freddy did not turn as he strode from her down the platform.

"I must certainly am not!"

Fifteen minutes later Sam rejoined Peak Abbott at their table in the Cricket Club. Peak said with surprise: "Why, Sam, where are your powers?"

"My flowers? Oh, I took them to Sam glanced at her shoulder where the spray of orchids had been, and then up at Peak, her eyes wide and dark. "They got crushed

"Yes." She nodded. "I'm that way because I haven't any family, and I haven't any friends—not the kind of friends that you have."

"That's what I mean by its being so funny about you and me. Each of us has something the other wants and hasn't got." She shook her head. "It seems sort of wicked."

Fourth's eyes widened as he looked at her. "You've admitted heavily." "I suppose it does."

On New Year's afternoon Fourth Aldersea gloomily took himself off to pay his respects to Eugenia Frye. Fourth was not happy in his pilgrimage, for he felt that his self-respect suffered with every visit to his most profitable customer.

It was not that the rich widow was, herself, to blame. Eugenie Frye bought books in greater quantity than all the rest of Fourth's customers put together. He realized, however, that salesmanship played no part in the matter. It was obvious that Eugenie's

Her interest lay not at all in books, but in her father in the man who sold them. She was particularly perturbed. He told Eugene frankly of his fall from wealth to poverty, and he dealt so honestly and so humbly with the question that poverty entailed. Eugene, a stout, middle-aged lady in an expensive, unbecoming dress, looked at him with a certain truth of all those things, but in spite of them she was utterly ha-

Fourth drew a long breath. "It is all that. Consider, for instance, my present position. The mortgage interest in my house falls due on the fifteenth of this month. If I can't meet it, and I see no way to meet it, my daughter, my son, and myself will be without a place to live."

 The widow got to her feet. "I'm going to lend you the money, and it, and was grateful.
 She was conscious of a new toler-

 consequence, her remarks to Sonny

"You can pay it back when you like,"

"Now please don't say no, Mr. Aldersea."

Fourth seemed to shrink. His eyes were low. "What can I say?" he asked in a low tone. "I may as well admit that if you hadn't been kind enough to offer, I should have asked."

"You have been twenty-four hours before."

Fourth had gone away after dinner to pay his call upon Eugene and Frye, leaving Sam and Sonny in the living room. Suddenly she spoke.

"I saw you the other night, Neilson," she said gently. "You didn't see me, but I saw you."

Then he shrugged, in an effort at indifference. "Well," he demanded slowly, "what about it. What are you going to do?"

NATIONAL AIR RACES ENDED AT CLEVELAND

Lowell Bayles Averages 236 Miles to Win Thompson Trophy

Cleveland, Ohio.—(AP)—Ten days of spectacular and record-setting achievements of the air came to an end today as the 1931 National Air Races were concluded.

Scores of pilots played to 370,000 persons during the races, which reached a climax yesterday as Lowell Bayles of Springfield, Mass., sped at an average speed of 236 miles an hour through the approaching dusk to win the $15,000 Charles E. Thompson trophy race.

Hurling his racing Gee Bee super sportsster over the 100-mile closed course in new race time, the speed sensation of the 1931 races left seven contestants, including Major James H. Doolittle, far behind.

Not satisfied, the former Illinois coal miner plans late today to attempt a new world record for land planes with his speedy ship over a measured three-kilometer course.

The record, made by a French pilot, is 278 miles an hour. Once during the races Bayles sent his Gee Bee sportsster 288 miles an hour over a mile straightaway.

Bayles won $7,500 for his victory yesterday. J. R. Wedell of New Orleans, placed second with 237 miles an hour, and Dale Jackson, St. Louis, third, with an average speed of 211 miles an hour.

Doolittle, winner of the Bendix derby and holder of a new coast-to-coast speed mark, was forced out of the Thompson trophy race with engine trouble after he had crept into second place.

Other pilots who finished out of the money, placed in the following order: Robert Hall, Springfield, Mass.; Capt. Ira C. Baker, Washington, D. C.; Ben O. Howard, Chicago, and William Ong, Kansas City.

Ray Moore, San Francisco, and his mystery ship, failed to start, as did Louis Reichers, Arlington, N. J., and Harold S. Johnson, Chicago.

So low did the pilots send their planes over the 10 mile laps, that Dale Jackson ripped the fabric on his wing in skimming the tree tops. Capt. Baker also was the victim of a minor mishap, when the retractable landing gear on his plane jammed and he was forced into a "dry duck" landing — sliding the plane along the ground.

No fatalities marred the course of the races, although four pilots became members of the caterpillar club by forced descents in parachutes.

Directors of National Air Races of Cleveland, Inc., faced a possible deficit of about $80,000. But regardless, the 1932 races were assured when necessary bond was posted with the National Aeronautics association. The races will be held the next five years at Cleveland.

AWARDS TO WINNERS
Cleveland.—(AP)—The sport of air racing has its material return as well as its thrills. Here is a list of some of the leading money winners of the 1931 National Air races fared in the ten day meeting.

Major James H. Doolittle, $10,000.
Lowell Bayles, Springfield, Mass., $9,300.

Mrs. Mae Hitzel, St. Louis $7,750.
W. J. Wedell, Patterson, La., $5,800.

Mrs. Phoebe Omile, Memphis, Tenn., $4,250 and an automobile worth $2,500.
John Livingston, Aurora, Ill., $6,250.

Harold S. Johnson, Chicago, $4,500.

Miss Florence Klingensmith, Minneapolis, $4,300.

Value of many of the trophies swell the winnings of the various pilots. Livingston carried home six trophies, while Bayles' silver and bronze Thompson trophy is valued at $10,000.

WHAT'S IN A DREAM?
Athens, Tenn. — You can't tell Leonard Wood that there isn't anything in dreams. He dreamed recently that he was dead and that people were lying all about him, dead or injured. The next day he received an invitation from C. D. Burger to go for an automobile ride. Wood refused on the strength of the dream. Burger was killed in a crash shortly afterward.

GROVES SUGGESTS RESERVE FUND TO STEADY EARNINGS

Establishment of System Up to Employers, Assemblyman Says

Kenosha.—(AP)—A system of a reserve fund to insure regular earnings for labor was suggested for Wisconsin by Assemblyman Harold M. Groves, Madison, a member of the legislative interim committee on unemployment, in a labor day speech here yesterday.

Employers would build up reserve funds out of earnings under the plan advocated by Assemblyman Groves, a professor of economics at the University of Wisconsin. The task of preventing unemployment would thus be placed upon the employer and any depletion in the reserve fund would be a penalty for irregular employment, he said.

Prof. Groves cited the instance of 16 Rochester, N. Y. employers who successfully adopted the unemployment reserve plan for 25,000 workmen.

Declaring unemployment a human institution to be cured by similar institutions, Prof. Groves named faulty distribution and unemployment as labor's two most difficult problems.

"Outstanding among the things which cry out for a remedy," he said, "is our bad distribution of wealth and our failure to distribute a great deal that our industrial equipment produces or has the capacity to produce."

"The second major problem is unemployment which bears down on the worker in many ways, the most obvious of which is to rob him of his wages. Curiously enough, and unfortunately, the worker does not reckon his pay in terms of what he gets during a year. He reckons the pay by what he gets for an hour's work."

"Thus carpenters are supposed to be well paid, yet I know of one city in Wisconsin where in 1928 carpenters paid $1.10 an hour earned less on the average than $1.10 a year," he explained.

Prof. Groves warned that eventually labor will demand that salaries be substituted for wages and that this demand will be fortified by legislation and organization.

"Wisconsin led the way in enactment of safety legislation, the mandatory minimum wage law for workmen, the industrial commission, restoration of apprenticeship to industry, an efficient public employment office system and workmen's compensation," he said.

ROAD COMMITTEE TO OPEN BIDS WEDNESDAY

Bids will be opened at a meeting of the county highway committee Wednesday afternoon at the courthouse on 5,222 yards of paving on county trunk Z in Kaukauna, on 1,000 cubic yards of crushed rock or gravel, and on one 10.30 ton trailer. Contractors are given the opportunity to bid on two different kinds of paving on the Kaukauna project.

The first is for concrete pavement and the second is for asphalt. This project will extend from a point within the city limits of Kaukauna to a point in the town of Buchanan where a nine-foot concrete roadway begins. This is a distance of 2,350 feet.

The crushed stone or gravel will be used to improve shoulders along seven miles of nine-foot concrete on Highway 54.

All bids must be accompanied by certified checks for 5 per cent of the estimate.

Eagles Lodge To Honor Heinemann And Schmiede

Judge Heinemann

Unemployment and the stabilization of employment will be the subject of the talk to be given by Judge Thomas O'Donnell, Kansas City, Mo., a representative of the organization department of Fraternal Order of Eagles, at the party to be given by the local aerie Wednesday night at Eagle hall in honor of Judge F. V. Heinemann and Assemblyman Oscar Schmiede. The party is being given in appreciation of the work these two men have done in behalf of the Eagles' Old Age Pension bill.

Judge O'Donnell has traveled many thousands of miles in behalf of state-paid old age pensions, the humanitarian movement the Eagles have championed for ten years. The Order now has a bill before Congress for the stabilization of employment and the speaker will discuss this bill.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 and Frank F. Wheeler will act as toastmaster. Visitors invited to attend include Edwin Dowse, Past State President, Beaver Dam; Dr. W. J. Doyle, state president, Fond du Lac; Albert Lautenbach, state vice-president, Plymouth; Victor H. Mendenhall, Milwaukee, state trustee; August C. Miller, Wisconsin Rapids, state treasurer; Fred J. Penford, state outside guard, Green Bay; Harry R. McLogan, Milwaukee, state organizer; Charles H. Dittman, La Crosse; Judge Albert H. Schmidt, Manitowish; Senator A. E. Garey, Madison, and William H. Armstrong, Racine.

Community singing will be led by Robert M. Connelly and J. M. Van Rooy. Musical numbers will be presented by an old time orchestra, and members of the drum and bugle corps and the marching club will assist in serving and ushering.

The general committee in charge includes Mayor John Goodland, Jr., Fred Bachman and Judge Theodore Berg. Invitations have been mailed to all of the members.

A meeting of all members interested in bowling is called for 7:30 Tuesday evening at Eagle hall. Teams and captains will be selected.

Bryson City, N. C. — Perhaps it was a coincidence but Jarrett Blythe, a young college graduate from Carlisle, has been chosen chief of the eastern tribe of Cherokees in the first election in which women were permitted to vote. He cannot speak Cherokee.

Los Angeles.—Although he swallowed the evidence, Henry Abraham has been sentenced to a year in jail and a $5,000 fine. The evidence was a marked five-dollar bill, which police gave him in buying liquor. It was recovered with a stomach pump.

EQUALIZATION FEE FAVORED BY CHIEF OF FARM BUREAU

Would Permit Farmer to Deal on Parity With Other Groups, Claim

Syracuse, N. Y.—(AP)—Amendment of the federal agricultural marketing act to permit operation of the equalization fee device in disposing of crops marketed by cooperatives, as a means of securing "adequate protection" for the farmer, was advocated by Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, in an address at the state fair here today.

The equalization fee, O'Neal said, would, by isolating the exportable surplus, permit the American farmer to exchange the products of his soil for other American products on a parity with other industrial groups. It would free the American market from the competition of world markets and it has the further advantage he said, of a governmental subsidy to agriculture in that this fee is paid by all producers of a crop on the surplus which cannot be disposed of at home.

The proposed fee "gives identical" the same protection that the immigration restrictions enable American labor to enjoy when threatened

DISTRICT ATTORNEY MEETS PREDECESSOR IN YARD OF PRISON

San Quentin, Calif. — (AP) — Asa Keyes, former district attorney of Los Angeles, and his successor, Burton Fitts, who prosecuted and sent him to prison, have shaken hands in the prison yard of San Quentin.

Fitts, accompanied by his wife and a party of friends including the motion picture actresses, Louise Fazenda and Marion Marsh, were inspecting the prison yesterday. Fitts suddenly excused himself and intercepted an inconspicuous figure in prison gray hurrying across the yard.

"Hello, hello Burton."

"Hello Asa, how are you?"

Without hesitation, both men shook hands and chatted for a few minutes. The nature of their conversation was not disclosed.

"Asa has shown himself a real man," Fitts said later. "He has taken his punishment without a whimper and deserves all the credit in the world for that. I was glad to see him again and see that he was looking so well."

The former district attorney, sentenced for bribery conspiracy in connection with the Julian oil cases, has been given a parole and has but six more weeks to serve. He plans to return to Los Angeles and work in a law office while carrying on a fight for reinstatement to the California Bar association.

Ponca City, Okla. — Pebblestone hasn't much speed but he is a derby winner. It took him one minute, 15 seconds, to go 75 feet, but that was fast enough to win a tarpaper race and $3,500 for his owner.

STOCK MARKET WEARY AFTER 3 DAYS REST

Tangible Signs of Seasonal Recovery in Business Still Absent

Associated Press Financial Editor New York—(P)—Financial markets were more weary than rested by the three-day weekend and sagged heavily as trading was resumed today.

Continued absence of tangible signs of a seasonal recovery in business, together with further gloomy descriptions of the unemployment problem, led to a large accumulation of selling orders in stocks, which declined rather sharply in the early trading. The market grew quieter as the session wore on, but failed to recuperate. Bonds were again rather soapy.

U. S. Steel common declined more than 2 points to a new low for the past 10 years, breaking for the first time through its bottom of 1922. Rails and utilities developed notable weakness. Issues losing 2 to 4 points included American Telephone, American Water Works, American and Foreign Power, Columbia Gas, North American, New York Central, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Great Lakes, Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, Eastman, Johns Manville, Nash and Woodworth. General Motors sagged more than a point.

Corporate news included reduction of New Haven's annual dividend to $4 and $6 and General Motors August sales report, showing sharp shrinkage from the like month of last year, at least in part attributable to the fact that next year's model were brought out in the summer of 1930. The slashing of New Haven's dividend was in keeping with forecasts heard in Wall Street for some time, but was nevertheless a bearish psychological influence. The restoration of New Haven's earnings power in recent years, resulting in resumption of dividends three years ago after an internal of 15 years in which nothing was paid on common has been repeatedly pointed to as proof of the carriers ability to meet with problems presented by changing trends in transportation.

General Motors sales to domestic consumers of 69,876 cars in August, compared with 86,426 in August of last year, and with 85,054 in July of this year. It was notable however, that sales to domestic consumers were substantially larger than in August of last year, and that the dealer inventory situation should be favorable.

Early estimates indicate that tomorrow's midweek statistics on steel production and freight car loadings will again fail to disclose any signs of a vigorous seasonal upturn. Reports from the Youngstown Steel Area indicate a sharp curtailment of output, partly as result of the holiday weekend. Cotton dropped only moderately in response to the governments estimate of the crop as of Sept. 1, as expected, the estimate showed but little change from the surprisingly large estimate, showed that the estimate was upward.

PRICES IRREGULAR ON N. Y. BOND MARKET

New York—(P)—The bond market declined irregularly today on moderate volume. Industrial obligations were less active than other groups which probably accounts for the fact that they had the appearance of resisting the downward pressure more effectively. Changes among the more representative industrial bonds were mainly fractional and were divided about equally between gains and declines. Chile Copper 6s of 1947 recovered early losses in active trading. Childs Debenture 5s lost about 3/4 points and sold at a new minimum price at 62.

Polish 7s of 1947 sagged sharply and sold as low as 56 1/2 at one time, a loss of more than 3 points from the previous closing price. Fluctuations among other foreign issues were principally fractional. Australian 5s of 1957, Brazilian 6 1/2 of 1926-27 and Uruguayan 6s ceased off. Norwegian 6s of 1944 were one of the most active issues of the whole list at firm prices. Belgian 7s and French 7s were other high grade foreigns showing firmness.

Railroad loans were more irregular than other groups. Canadian Pacific Debenture 4s lost about 1 point. Erie 5s of 1935, Missouri Pacific Series F 5s and New York, Chicago and St. Louis 4 1/2 of 1938 declined about as much. In better stead, there were a great many issues wavered back and forth narrowly. Atchafalpa General 4s were firm and active.

Issues of the United States government were moderately active with a declining tendency. Public utility bonds fluctuated within narrow limits than the railroad or foreign groups and they were more active than the industrials.

HOG PRICES DRIVEN DOWNWARD ON MART

Early Trading Slow With Few Sales Completed After Holiday

Chicago—(P)—Hog prices on the opening market of the week were driven downward by the pressure of heavy marketings locally and at the 12 principal centers of the country. Chicago had 40,000 head, against 30,500 on the first day of last week, while the 12 largest markets had 83,100, against 66,000 a week ago. Local packers had 8,000 direct.

Early trading was slow and practically no sales were completed in the first few hours as sellers looked for a steady market, while buyers insisted upon a 10-15c decline. Best lightweights were held at $6.70, which represented a 5c-10c mark-down, compared to Friday's average. Underweight lights sold from $6.40 down to $5.75, while 260 to 280 lbs. butchers hogs were $6.10 to $6.00. Packing stock were steady early.

Supplies of cattle at 18,000 head at the local yards were not excessive for the first trading day of the week and when compared to 24,000 a week ago gave some encouragement to sellers. Liberal sprinklings of western cattle were found in the first inspection. Interest in surrounding steers was anticipated, as the pre-holiday indifference was replaced by need of choice cattle of all weights. Heavy steers of choice quality were assured a good market, and best were held at $7.25 to $10.00 and higher.

Twelve markets had 62,800 lambs today, against 55,200 for the first day of last week, a decrease of 15,400 head. Chicago's run was not sharply reduced and the 25,000 on sale gave buyers a chance to exert pressure on the market. Best native and range ewe and wether lambs were offered for sale at $7.25 to $7.50, while bids were slow at $7.00 to $7.50.

GRAIN PRICES ON DECLINE AS STOCKS WEAKEN

Little Attention Paid to 'Hold Back Grain' Plan Started in Iowa

Associated Press Market Editor Chicago—(P)—Led by corn, the grain markets went downward in the late dealings today, largely as a result of sympathy with weakness of securities. September corn fell 2 1/2 cents a bushel, with pressure of liquidating sales a feature. Little attention was paid to a "hold back grain" plan that has been started in Iowa.

Helping to strengthen wheat prices were reports that Germany was inquiring for a three year credit purchase of 17,000,000 bushels of United States government financed wheat, and that owing to harvest difficulties Russia had withdrawn offerings of high grade wheat. Notice was also taken of department of agriculture estimates that the world wheat crop excluding Russia was but 2,822,280,000 bushels, compared with 2,942,112,000 a year ago. A leading authority indicated that the Russian exportable surplus had apparently been reduced to 60,000,000 bushels.

A handicap to wheat bulls, however, was weakness of securities, United States Steel in particular. At times, wheat gains were more than wiped out. Corn and oats swayed with wheat, influenced also by advices that intense heat had done damage to late planted corn in Nebraska and Kansas.

ROOM FOR 448 MORE BADGERS AT WASHINGTON

Wisconsin Entitled to Have 909 Persons on Uncle Sam's Payroll

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent

Washington—There could be 448 more badgers working in the National Capital for Uncle Sam than there are now.

If Wisconsin provided its full quota of Civil Service eligibles for federal jobs in Washington there might be a total of 909 persons from the Badger State working here instead of the 461 on the government payroll on August 31. And this addition of 448 workers, to which Wisconsin is entitled under its Civil Service quota, would put an additional annual $896,000 into Badgers' pockets and pocketbooks, considering $2,000 a year an average government salary.

The Civil Service law provides for the apportionment of positions among the states and the District of Columbia on the basis of population and proof of legal residence must be filed before examinations may be taken.

The law of apportionment does not apply, of course, to reductions of force and so the number of workers from any one state and the percentage of a state's quota filled, vary from time to time. The District of Columbia, Virginia and Maryland are way over quota. Iowa has 67 more workers than it is entitled to, and New Hampshire, Vermont and Delaware slightly exceed their quotas. All other states are under quota. At least 10 of the under quota states were further below the possible totals than Wisconsin, according to June figures, with neighbor Michigan 1,010 below its quota of 1,486 on June 30.

The Chief of Staff of the Army, General Douglas MacArthur, whom Wisconsin started on his successful army career by sending him to West Point years ago—in 1899 to be exact—is going to France and will land next week and see just how the French Army conducts itself.

Aboard the speedster, the Leviathan, General MacArthur will arrive in France on September 11 and at the invitation of General Weygand, vice president of the Supreme War Council of France, will attend the fall maneuvers of the French Army near Rheims. After the end of the display on September 18, he will visit World War battlefields, including those fought over by the Forty-second or Rainbow Division, his own division in which he served as chief of staff, brigadier commander, and finally commanding general, always maintaining that "it's the best division in the Army". He will also visit various American cemeteries and will return to the United States about September 24.

Speaking of MacArthur and the Army, brings to mind a harmless little announcement of the Navy, which probably doesn't mean a thing and then again, it may be a gentle little nudge.

Some short weeks ago—too recent to be forgotten by the disgruntled Army, a squadron of nine Army aviators set out to sink the ancient ship, Mount Shasta, and they invited the Navy to watch. For some reason, perhaps fog, perhaps misplaced economy in their bombs, or just misplaced bombs, they failed to sink her and the Coast Guard hurriedly ended the massacre.

Now the Navy is going to make a series of scientific tests of ordnance material and will use the USS Pittsburgh, a second line cruiser to be put out of commission. The Navy has returned the invitation courtesy and is asking the Army to watch their show. It is however, announcing before hand that its bombs will be dummy bombs and that no attempt will be made to sink the Pittsburgh. The laboratory experiments, as the tests are termed, will be made on September 15 in Chesapeake Bay.

The contract for building the new Cedar Rapids, Iowa, post office has been awarded to J. P. Cullen and Sons of Janesville for their bid of $372,386, the lowest of 24 received.

Wisconsin farmers are planning to increase their 1931 crops of winter wheat and winter rye, contrary to the announced intentions of most states producing these crops to reduce this year's acreage.

Wisconsin farmers have reported to the Department of Agriculture their intention to plant 55,930 acres with winter wheat this fall, an increase of 70 per cent when compared with 34,000 acres planted last fall. Only North and South Carolina, Georgia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Arkansas, Idaho, Wyoming, Nevada, Washington and Oregon, plan increased planting of winter wheat and Georgia with a proposed increase of 80 per cent, is the only state surpassing Wisconsin in percentage addition to its crop.

However, Wisconsin's actually planting will probably fall below its announced intention, just as it did last fall when it announced it would plant 48,000 acres but only seeded 34,000.

Even if this year's intentions are carried out in full by every state, it would mean the smallest acreage sown in any fall since 1914 and would be 12 per cent below the average sown last fall. Reports indicate an acreage of 37,344,000 acres throughout the country.

Wisconsin and Nebraska are the only important rye states which have announced their intention of increasing their acreages of rye intended for grain.

"Grand Old Man Of Labor Unionism" Still Fights Battles Of Those Who Must Work For a Living

BY PHILIP J. SINNOTT

San Francisco—At 77, Andrew Furuseth, variously called "the grand old man of labor unionism," and "the Abe Lincoln of the sea," is still actively fighting the battles of those who toil.

Equally at home among millionaires and day laborers, this white-haired veteran of half a century of fiery disputes between workers and their employers continues to tramp the far corners of the world aiding his fellow men.

Furuseth is president of the International Seamen's Union, but more important is the fact that he is advisor to the American Federation of Labor in nearly every important matter involving questions of human rights which frequently arise in labor disputes and fights for labor legislation.

Andy Furuseth is perhaps the most picturesque of present day labor leaders.

Andy Furuseth is perhaps the most picturesque of present day labor leaders.

Tall, lean, straight and rugged, with sharp blue eyes, he carries in his veins the blood of the hardy Norsemen of old. He was born in Norway in 1854 and sailed before the mast when yet in his teens.

His formal education was meager, yet he has been called a human encyclopedia, for he can talk on any subject from medieval guild system to modern economics. He is logical, terse, quaint and fervid.

Unmarried, Furuseth lives alone in his home at San Francisco, but spends much of his time in Washington, where he has an office in the American Federation of Labor building.

Just recently, he journeyed up the west coast to Portland, Ore., meeting humble seamen as he himself once was, and talking over current problems.

He ascribes a large part of the depression to worthless stocks. "Since 1924," he declared, "more than $24,000,000,000 of worthless securities have been saddled onto the American public. People naturally want to get rich quickly, and as a result, the sick salesman of watered stock has an easy time of it, and we—why, we have a depression period."

There is not much about the seamen's life that Furuseth does not know. He learned a lot and became embittered through his own experiences with rotten food, dirty fore-castes, brutal masters, scant pay and virtual slavery during the 12 years he sailed the seas.

He traveled to most of the ports of the civilized world on Norwegian, Dutch, German, British and American boats. He worked with all sorts of men under all sorts of conditions. He decided that the seamen's lot cream along with a great variety of American products, and will permit their importation for the period of a month.

Increase In Duty
The dairy products and other American imports will, however, be subject to an increase of one-half the existing duties plus surtaxes. The trade period ends on September 27. The embargo began August 20.

The United States Public Health Service, which has for several years advocated a standard milk ordinance for the public health protection of municipal milk supplies, has a statement to make also.

Missouri has a standard milk ordinance and the Health Service reports that the sanitary quality of raw milk in the 19 cities of the state which observe the standard, has improved 54 per cent and the quality of raw milk delivered to pasteurizing plants, 90 per cent. Moreover, there has been an increase of 108 per cent in sales of pasteurized milk and 18 per cent in market milk since the observation of the ordinance.

The third federal body concerning itself with dairy products is the Department of Agriculture, which announces a remarkable expansion in the 1930 production of dry and powdered milk and the publication of a study of viscosity or body of cream, an important commercial factor.

Stanley K. Hornbeck, chief of the Division of Far Eastern Affairs of the State Department and graduate of the University of Wisconsin, welcomed the delegates to the tenth annual conference of International Student Service at Mount Holyoke College, Mass., recently.

After discussing the present turmoil of the world, he congratulated the students upon the environment for their conference, saying:

"If you were assembled in one of the large cities you would see something American, but your horizon would be restricted—you would see the trees about you, but not the forest which is the United States."

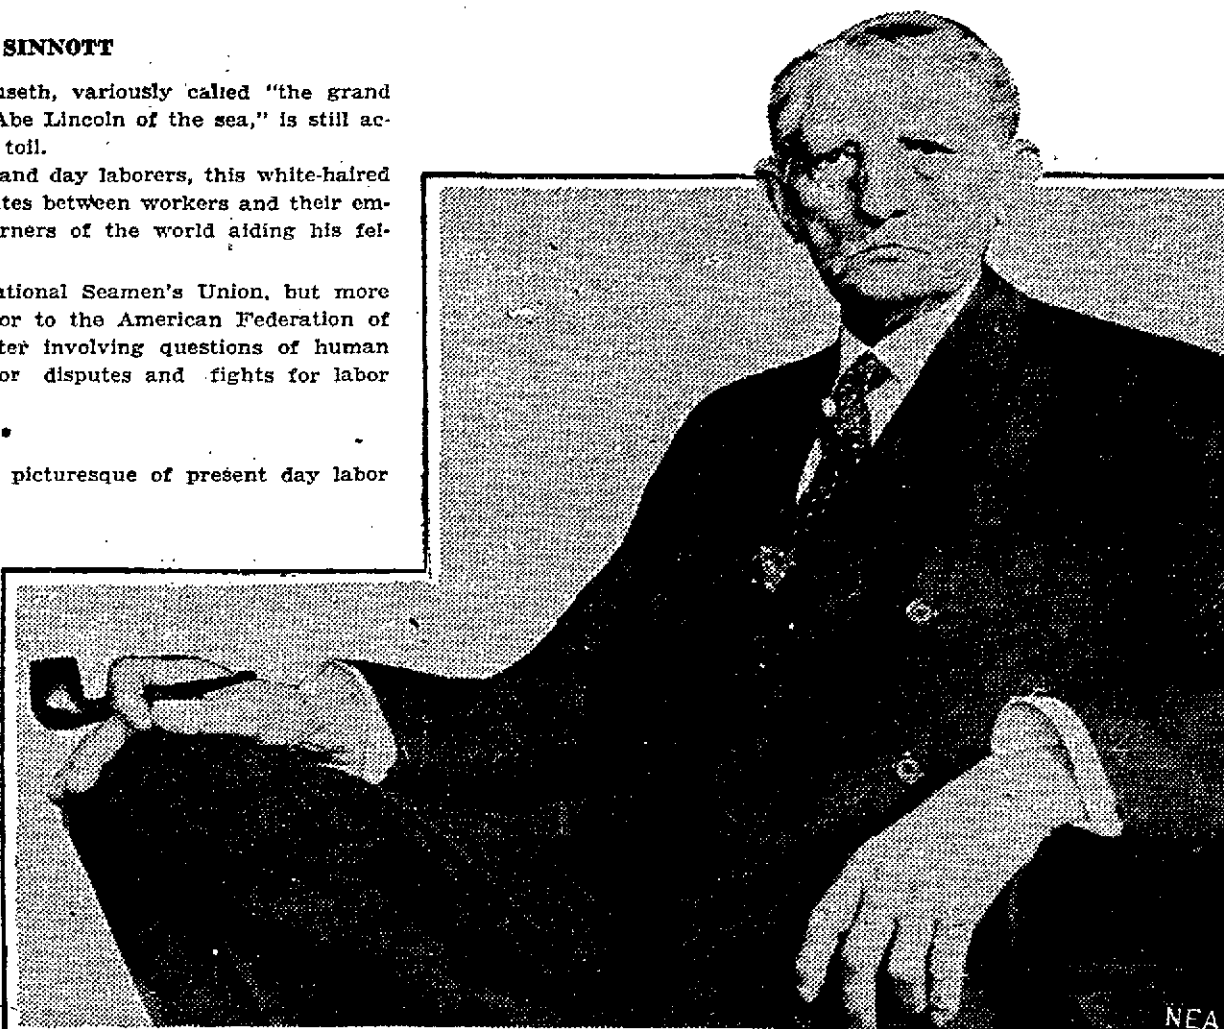

"There is a United States which is not easily observed between the pillars of elevated railways, through the headlines of gangster killings, from bus or taxicab, in the press of traffic and against the glare of the traffic lights. It is the older, the broader, the fundamental America, a country peopled by men and women who have been determined for generations to improve themselves, to give opportunities to their children, and to better their land, who are passionately interested in principles as well as in practices, who believe that problems can be solved by intelligent effort and who sincerely but purposefully back up their government in its efforts to discover the causes and find the cures of the ills which beset the state and afflict mankind."

Harold Henry Jepson of Marshfield, Norman Julius Baker, of Milwaukee, Andrew Anthony Mirlach of Beaver Dam, and Robert Prescott Pike of Portage, have been promoted to the rank of First Lieutenants in the Infantry Reserves, the War Department announces.

Glenn Reeder Black of Milwaukee will serve as First Lieutenant in the Cavalry Reserve, and Clarence Axel Tollne of Milwaukee as a Captain in the Dental Reserve.

Three branches of Uncle Sam's federal service have recently issued announcements of interest to the dairy farmer.

The Department of Commerce has been advised that Uruguay has received the import prohibitions that prevent cheese, butter, milk and must be bettered and that it was his task.

Finally, he quit the sea and came ashore at San Francisco in the '80's. Seated on a few drifted ship timbers he formed the first Seamen's Union of the Pacific and set out a campaign for reform. Since then he has continued at the helm as chief-tain of union seamen.

In 1892 he was leader in the organization of the International Seamen's Union of America.

In 1894, he went to Washington and laid a program before Congress. For 21 years he fought courageously for human rights and in 1911 the act known as the La Follette seamen's law, was passed. Thus the American sailor was assured being treated as a human being.

He had succeeded in 1908 in preventing all American ships in American harbors from imprisoning sailors who left their ships in port, and the La Follette law added the same provision regarding foreign ships in American harbors.

He attended international meetings of transport workers and, almost single-handed, battled wealthy ship owners in many foreign countries in an effort to gain new rights for the sailors.

Furuseth became a dominant figure at American Federation of Labor meetings and was consulted about great strikes among iron and steel workers and other union men.

Odd and independent, he is respected by every union man in America. His friends in foreign countries are legion. His knowledge of law and history, gained from long hours of study, have so well stocked his mind that he is seldom contradicted.

Furuseth's aims are still those of rugged righteousness: to provide and maintain adequate wages, working and living conditions through unionism, to keep his men in line, to make them save their money, keep sober and learn that to win others' respect they must first respect themselves.

Pimples on Face and Back Itched Terribly. Cuticura Healed.

"I had a bad case of pimples which affected my face and back. The pimples were large and red and festered and scaled over. They itched terribly and when I scratched it caused them to spread. The trouble lasted about two years, and my face was disfigured by them. I used other remedies but they did not help at all. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in three months I was completely healed after using five cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Miss Lorena Krueger, Groton, South Dakota.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25c and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. H, Malden, Mass."

Trust no Substitute because it "looks like Kotex"

MANY substitutes look like Kotex. But few offer anything like the strict, hygienic purity of Kotex... the pad that's bought by hospitals in enormous quantities. This health protection should be your first concern in selecting a sanitary pad. You have it in Kotex. But how about those unknown substitutes, of whose makers you know nothing? How are they made? Where? Would hospitals sanction them? Would you, if you knew their origin?

Why take chances, ever? Kotex is available everywhere... just insist on genuine Kotex.

Kotex is wonderfully soft. It is treated to deodorize. Adjustable. Disposable. Wear it on either side.

We Have New Satins for Your Suit, Daytime or Evening Costume

$1.98 yard

Your first autumn costume might well be of satin — smart black satin, or deep brown. It may be a tailor as simple as though of wool, or it may be a coat-frock with contrasting colour for accent. Again it may be for formal afternoon in black with a colour, or for evening in one of the soft off-whites or pale pastels. But whatever its type or colour — it will be smart in satin. Heavy crepe satins in black, the new red, white, yellow, dawn pink, pale blue and green.

With flowing sleeves or cap sleeves for dinner, Vogue Frock 5754 makes much of its panel sash, and ankle length.

A tailor that is really a two-piece frock is Vogue Pattern 5732, very smart for black satin with white trim.

An "Easy-to-Make" frock for evening knots on the shoulders and has a wrapped sash. Vogue 5762, for new satins.

The tailored coat frock with only a touch of contrast is shown in Vogue Pattern 5738, smart for dark-toned satin.

Travel Print Crepes in Tweed-like patterns, a lovely quality at $1.19 and $1.49 a yard
